Motels Braced For Big Season

By GARY GRAUL
Star Staff Writer

A record influx of visitors to Nebraska is expected during the summer of 1966—and the tide is being eagerly awaited by Lincoln motels.

"Lincoln attracts people," explains Leon Nefsky, president of the Lincoln Motel Association, "and now that the Interstate highway is being completed and we're beginning to promote the state, we can look forward to a big tourist season."

Nefsky's analysis is supported by other motel managers who point out that Lincoln is beginning to share in the nationwide travel trend of the past several years.

"The American public is more of a traveling public now," says Harvey Gates of the Buffalo Motel. "More money, more vacation time, better cars, better lodging—the whole economy is being built around the traveling public."

August Peak Month

The tourist season lasts from mid-May through September, with August as the peak month. "With the AAU swimming meet in August this year," Nefsky says, "many motels are already short of rooms for that month."

Most of the travelers are still just passing through. Jim Van Horn of the Congress Inn reports, "We're halfway between Denver and Chicago. It's a two-day drive between the two cities, so almost half our business comes from our being a convenient overnight stop for people from these areas.

"People from the east go to the mountains for skiing and scenery; people from the west head for the big cities, where there are people, ball games and other attractions."

Only Seconds

As an example, he cites his own motel chain's "Holi-dex" computer. Simply by feeding information into a machine, reservations can be made in 700 locations, with 80,000 rooms, "in a matter of seconds."

"Before leaving home," Anderson continues, "a man can map out his complete itinerary. Travel offices provide brochures of what is interesting to see in all major cities. For instance, Lincoln brochures tell of the Capitol building and the Sheldon Art Galleries."

Other changes in the motel system result from the demand for better facilities from the public. Nefsky says, "The public demands modern conveniences. They have the money and they are willing to spend it, but they want their money's worth."

"They want more swimming pools," adds Raymond Whittler, manager of the Sharon Motel. "Twenty years ago their lodging was a cabin, perhaps a bed with a mattress. Now they want TVs, while radios used to be considered a luxury. They also demand more restrooms."

The demanded improvements have in turn increased travel. "Tourists know they can take a trip and find a modern motel with all the conveniences," explains Nefsky.

Headed South

The type of tourist varies with the season, according to Wittler. The motels are overwhelmingly dominated by east-west travelers who, Wittler says, tend to be younger people with their families. But during the winter, there are a large number of elderly people traveling south.

"More families and younger people travel," Van Horn claims. "Our customers used to be middle-aged or older. Now the younger people have more money."

LBJ Terms $5 Billion Increase Only Choice

. . . CONTROLS UNWANTED; CUT 'IMPOSSIBLE'

Washington (AP)— President Johnson indicated Tuesday he will ask Congress for a tax increase if prices continue to rise.

He mentioned a possible hike of $5 billion "more or less" affecting both individual and corporation taxes

Johnson said no one likes to seek a tax increase—especially in an election year — but "if we need to take action, we'll take it."

No Decision Yet

While emphasizing that he has made no decision, Johnson said:

"Congress would rather have a modest tax increase of 5, 6 or 7% of the tax bill, corporate and personal, than to see inflation and the value of the dollar go down."

Holding an impromptu news conference, Johnson said most of his advisers believe anti-inflation measures taken so far will not do the trick. He said they are talking about government controls, a federal spending cut of $5 billion to $10 billion, or a tax increase of "5 billion more or less."

Johnson said no one wants controls and he argued that any massive spending cut would be impossible. That left the alternative of a tax increase.

Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Wis., ranking republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said:

"I'm certainly not going to support any tax increase as long as the administration continues to press for expenditures that certainly can be deferred."

House Democratic whip Hale Boggs, D-La., who is on the Ways and Means Committee, recalled he said as early as last December after a trip to Viet Nam that depending on the pressures in the economy, "we might have to increase taxes."

"I haven't changed my mind," Boggs said.

Gauging The Wind

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, commented with some surprise, "I haven't thought about it. I was hoping this (a tax increase) could be deferred. Let's be sure and see which way the wind is blowing."

On other topics, Johnson said:

—The United States this year may ship to famine-threatened India more wheat than it consumes at home.

— Communist China, not the United States, is blocking more open dealings between the two countries

"It would be better," said Johnson, "if no industry in this country raised their prices" and wage boosts were held to 3.2% during efforts to combat inflation.

He said Congress is more likely to add $1 billion to next year's budget than to cut $1 billion.

Talking scornfully of members of Congress who try to give the appearance of economizing, he said their aim would be to reject his request for $10 million for rent subsidies and $10 million for a Teacher Corps.

"So," he said, "that's how they are going to cut the budget — $20 million out of $113 billion."

Buddhists Get Warning By Ky

He threatened "very strong measures" if necessary to curb the organized unrest that has clouded the Vietnamese war effort for nearly three weeks.

The aim would be "not for the survival of the government, but for the survival of Viet Nam," the chief of the Saigon military regime told a group of foreign newsmen.

The situation has taken on some anti-American overtones.

In Washington, the White House held to announced plans for two top presidential aides to fly to Saigon.

When Is Unknown

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers told reporters he is going but he doesn't know when.

Earlier Deputy Press Secretary Robert H. Fleming told newsmen that Moyers and Robert Komer, President Johnson's Viet Nam specialist, still intend to depart Thursday on their trip to Southeast Asia Johnson announced a week ago. But Moyers mentioned no specific day.

The Moyers-Komer takeoff had been slated for Tuesday, together with Deputy Defense Secretary Cyris R. Vance. Monday Moyers put off his departure on grounds that Vance, in a 10-day trip, is first going to visit some military installations not of great interest to him. Vance left Monday night.

U.S. Marines sought fresh contact with North Vietnamese regulars in the Quang Ngai area, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, after a battle Monday in which they estimated they killed 150.

South Vietnamese troops in the same action said they accounted for 67 of the enemy, reported to be elements of North Viet Nam's 1st Regiment.

Operation Jackstay

Other Marines, with naval and air support, plodded through mangrove swamps 18 miles southeast of Saigon in the fourth day of Operation Jackstay. Few of the guerrillas who have been harassing shipping to and from the capital chose to oppose that drive to clear the Saigon River and its tributaries.

U.S. authorities had been hoping that Ky would take a firm stand against the public agitation. Both governments are pledged by the Honolulu Declaration to economic, social and governmental reforms paralleling the war effort.

It was disclosed that Cam Ranh Bay has been earmarked for future development as a Vietnamese industrial center. It is now a still-expanding American supply base.

Brezhnev Seeks Friendship With Both U.S., Red China

Moscow (AP) —Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev said Tuesday the Soviet Union wants better relations with the United States and Red China. But he set conditions both nations have rejected.

On the home front, Brezhnev told the opening session of the Soviet Communist Party's 23rd congress that the name of the all-powerful party Presidium has been changed back to Politburo—the name used in Joseph Stalin's time.

On the international front, he had this to say about the Soviet Union's chief antagonists—the United States and China:

—The Soviet Union is ready to develop relations with the United States if the United States abandons its war in Viet Nam.

—The Moscow-Peking dispute will be overcome eventually if China gives up many present policies.

Four-Hour Speech

Brezhnev spoke for more than four hours to almost 5,000 delegates representing the party's 12,471,000 members and 1,000 guests from 86 other Communist and Marxist parties in the Kremlin Palace of Congresses.

The remarks Tuesday were milder than previous Soviet criticism of the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

"Our relations with the United States have deteriorated in connection with American aggression in Viet Nam and other aggressive actions by U.S. imperialism," Brezhnev charged.

Brezhnev took a conciliatory line on China, which refused an invitation to attend the congress. Albania and the Communist Parties of Japan and New Zealand followed suit but two of China's Asian neighbors, North Viet Nam and North Korea, are represented.

Against China Stand

There has been speculation that some of the foreign delegations would not have shown up if they had expected to be forced to take a stand against China.

China has said it has nothing in common with the present Soviet leadership that can be discussed.

Relations with China and Albania "unfortunately remain unsatisfactory," Brezhnev said.

"We deeply regret that the differences, which benefit only our common adversaries, have not yet been overcome," he declared.

Communist sources had said earlier Brezhnev would discuss Stalin's role in Soviet life. There were indications he might partly rehabilitate the late dictator.

These sources said there was no longer any indication that Stalin would come up.

Indian Educator Says Food Gap Will Shrink

By VIRGIL FALLOON

An Indian educator said Tuesday his country can close the gap between food production and an exploding population with modern agricultural methods.

Dr. K. C. Naik, vice chancellor of the University of Agricultural Sciences at Bangalore in south central India, is in Lincoln on a tour of the land-grant college system.

"It is an opinion shared by others that the food-population gap can be wiped out without too much difficulty with hybrid grains and fertilizer," he said.

The horticulturist said he is particularly interested in the agricultural extension service under the land-grant colleges in which information from research and experiment stations is carried to the farmers.

"We hope under a five-year plan to make India self-sufficient in food production," he said.

Dr Naik, on his second visit to the U.S. under a Rockefeller Foundation grant, will spent two more days conferring with University officials and visiting its experimental stations before travelling to other Midwestern univeriles and then California.

During a news conference in Gov. Frank Morrison's office, Dr. Naik said, "Communism is on the decline in India, but if the economy doesn't look up, who knows?"

Dr. Naik said the multi-million dollar foundation for India proposed by President Johnson would be a great help if its concept is similar to the Ford or Rockefeller Foundation work.

Morrison said America "wants to work in partnership in sharing knowledge with underprivileged countries so their peoples can become more productive and self-sufficient.

"India, the second most populous nation in the world, has been a bulwark against Communism," he said. "But to win the cold war, we must win the battle against hunger and nutrition."

Injuries Light As Blast Rips Falls City Home

Falls City (AP)—An electric water heater explosion at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Werner about seven miles northwest of Falls City virtually turned the house into a shambles Tuesday, but the occupants escaped with comparatively few injuries.

Werner said the heater, about two years old, apparently failed to shut off and steam pressure built up until it exploded like a rocket, tearing through two floors and out the roof, landing in a field about 75 yards from the house.

The heater went through the kitchen and through a second floor bedroom in which Deborah Werner, 8, was sleeping about 6:15 a.m., missing her bed by about six inches. She suffered only a bruised shoulder. Three other children sleeping in other parts of the house were uninjured.

Mr. and Mrs. Werner, sleeping in a downstairs bedroom, were hurled against the ceiling by the force of the blast and their bed was shredded. Werner suffered a cut on the ear and Mrs. Werner had a severe knee injury, possibly a fracture.

All the windows were blown out of the house and walls bulged about a foot from the foundation. Most of the furniture was reduced to kindling. A stairway to the second floor was torn out and the entire kitchen was demolished.

The explosion shook the house of Werner's brother, Ed, who lives about a mile away.

Werner said almost every room in the house was seriously damaged and the house will have to be torn down.

At 101, Memories Of Jesse James

By DEAN TERRILL

Humboldt — Take it from a reporter who's storified a score or more: Mrs. Addie Hayes is one centenarian cut from a cloth all her own.

Female frontiersman, carpenter, Indian schoolmom, legal secretary, lady preacher, nurse, foster mother six times over, Salvation Army lass—oh yes, and a friend of Jesse James. Such a go-getter would have to be 100; this gal will be 101 April 26.

"Used to be an awful good singer too, 'til tunes came in fashion," she quipped, mischievous eyes matching her wit. Somehow the wrinkles smoothed as she capsuled a century of service into a few minutes of memories.

Her own broken hip barely slows her at being what Dr. Harlan S. Heim terms his "very best nursemaid" at the Holman Memorial Nursing Home. Her stories, especially of homesteading by herself in the Sandhills, are better than antibiotics for the 19 "younger ones," around her.

"I just read the Bible aloud when they're blue or get 'em to laughing," she shrugged. "Except for hay fever, I have more fun here than anyone. I don't think the Lord wants us to sit around with long faces."

He Didn't Return

Seven decades ago she preached similarly from her husband's Richardson County pulpit after he left for service. For nearly a year she "filled out his time" and waited—but her Oscar Whitmire had gone down with the "Maine."

A University of Nebraska graduate when the school was "just a little bit of a coop," she taught in Dawes County while simultaneously proving up a homestead. By herself she hammered a house into being, broke the sod and "put the good land into corn."

A girlhood respect for Indians ("Those dear people supplied us our only meat.") led her to an Indian school at Pine Ridge, and for five years she was their well-nicknamed "White Angel." There were nine other years of teaching, also nursing in "Indiana and Minnesota and Kansas and everywhere."

"I learned from my mother, who was a Civil War nurse and the first to stay in Richardson County and doctor," she reflected. "I've always tried to do for everybody who was in need."

Other highlights of her several lives in one:

—Pioneering through the Black Hills with her second husband, James Dean Hayes, as he and a brother built the mill for the famous Lead gold mine. He was not only a nephew of President Rutherford B. but "looked just like him."

—"Shaking the pan" in Denver for the Salvation Army after associating with the group during its first year in this country (1880).

All Made Good

—Raising as her own "six children that Father Flanagan himself couldn't have handled, but every one made good." Another half dozen owe much of their education to financing by her and her husband.

A longtime resident of Auburn and the Falls City area, Mrs. Hayes was doing private practical nursing in Stella when she broke her hip two years ago. She also gave up driving then—but still carries pliers in her purse "in case anybody needs a mechanic."

Coming from Missouri as a two-month-old infant, she waited only a few years to become acquainted with Jesse James. He often visited her father (John Davis), who incidentally had helped start Falls City's first newspaper.

"Used to do a lot of shooting in those old Sandhills," she continued. "I could outshoot the men—if you don't believe it, bring me a pistol."

This reporter believed it; besides, she had just opined that "the best you can say for newspapermen is that they're a necessary evil."

MRS. HAYES . . . still 'White Angel' at 101.

A girlhood respect for Indians ("Those dear people supplied us our only meat.") led her to an Indian school at Pine Ridge, and for five years she was their well-nicknamed "White Angel." There were nine other years of teaching, also nursing in "Indiana and Minnesota and Kansas and everywhere."

"I learned from my mother, who was a Civil War nurse and the first to stay in Richardson County and doctor," she reflected. "I've always tried to do for everybody who was in need."

Other highlights of her several lives in one:

—Pioneering through the Black Hills with her second husband, James Dean Hayes, as he and a brother built the mill for the famous Lead gold mine. He was not only a nephew of President Rutherford B. but "looked just like him."

—"Shaking the pan" in Denver for the Salvation Army after associating with the group during its first year in this country (1880).

All Made Good

—Raising as her own "six children that Father Flanagan himself couldn't have handled, but every one made good." Another half dozen owe much of their education to financing by her and her husband.

A longtime resident of Auburn and the Falls City area, Mrs. Hayes was doing private practical nursing in Stella when she broke her hip two years ago. She also gave up driving then—but still carries pliers in her purse "in case anybody needs a mechanic."

Coming from Missouri as a two-month-old infant, she waited only a few years to become acquainted with Jesse James. He often visited her father (John Davis), who incidentally had helped start Falls City's first newspaper.

"Used to do a lot of shooting in those old Sandhills," she continued. "I could outshoot the men—if you don't believe it, bring me a pistol."

This reporter believed it; besides, she had just opined that "the best you can say for newspapermen is that they're a necessary evil."

STEEPEST COST RISE . . .

Washington (AP)—The government reported Tuesday the steepest February rise in living costs since the Korean War.

The upswing was led by soaring food prices. Meat prices climbed off the top of Labor Department charts.

The 0.5% rise put the consumer price index, which measures typical family living costs, at 111.6, meaning it took $11.16 last month to buy items that cost $10 in the 1957-59 base period.

Long-rising meat prices went up another 2% to 19% above a year ago, edging off the top of the chart at 115.7% of 1957-59 to prices

Pork alone was 37% higher than a year ago.

Fresh vegetables soared 10%, poultry 8% and eggs nearly 4% to lead the rise in food prices that made up 75% of the February increase.

The rest of the rise was in housing, clothing, medical care and virtually all consumer services.

The only major item in the index that dropped was transportation, down 0.1% largely because of lower auto prices. The decline in transportation costs was less than usual for February.

Standby Controls

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., said an attempt will be made in Congress Wednesday to reimpose standby controls on installment buying.

The over-all jump in the consumer price index—only the third of that size since 1958 — chipped another half-cent from the purchasing power of the dollar, bringing it down to 89.6 cents of its 1957-59 value.

Over-all living costs were 2.5% above a year ago, the biggest annual increase since 1958.

"The worst of the (food price) increases appears to be over," Assistant Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

"There is no indication of panic buying," he said.

Although food accounted for 75% of the February rise, food comprises 22.5% of items measured in the consumer price index.

Chase read a statement from the Agriculture Department predicting declines in farm prices by the end of this year of 20% for vegetables, 15% for poultry and eggs, 15% for potatoes and dry beans, 5 to 8% for meat, 2 to 5% for fruit and 6 to 10% for feed grains and hay.

Dairy products, however, are expected to go up another 3 to 5%, the department said.

Eggs Up 27%

Beef and veal were 9% higher than February 1965, eggs 27%, milk 2.5%, bread 3% and fresh vegetables 6%. Prices were lower for potatoes, citrus fruits, bananas and orange juice.

In other major categories of the index, housing rose 0.2%, medical services 0.4, clothing 0.3 and recreation 0.2.

Senate OKs Tire Safety Standards

Washington (UPI) — The Senate gave a big boost to President Johnson's car safety campaign Tuesday by voting 79-0 to authorize the first federal minimum safety standards for automobile tires.

The legislation, sent to the House, was amended at the last minute to require the commerce secretary to prescribe a uniform quality grading system for the benefit of tire buyers. The system would be effective in 2½ years.

The bill originally provided only that the secretary recommend such a system, if feasible, to Congress by Jan. 31, 1969.

The bill also would:

—Authorize the commerce secretary to adopt minimum safety standards for new car tires, based on existing public and private criteria, by next Jan. 31.

—Authorize him to set revised standards for both new tires and retreads, based on two years of research and study, by Jan. 31, 1969.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., sponsor of the bill which the President endorsed, called it "one step toward correcting a scandalous situation." He charged that the automobile industry has equipped new cars with tires unable to carry the load without blowing out.

In other developments:

—The government published new standards for control of air pollution from automobile exhausts, effective with 1968 models of all cars, domestic and imported.

— National Safety Council President Howard Pyle said at Senate hearings on auto safety that proposed mandatory federal standards for automakers should be used only as a last resort, giving the industry time to improve safety features voluntarily.

Senators OK Daylight Time Compromise

Washington (AP)—The Senate passed Tuesday a compromise version of legislation to set up a uniform system for dealing with Daylight Saving Time in the United States.

The Senate sent the measure to the House shortly after Senate-House conferees agreed to drop a Senate amendment which would have permitted a state to split itself into not more than two parts, one on Daylight and the other on Standard Time.

The House is expected to clear the measure to President Johnson Wednesday. In its final form, it would:

—For this year, provide that any area of the country wishing to use Daylight Saving must operate on it from the last Sunday in April, to the last Sunday in October.

—Starting in 1967, put the entire country on Daylight Saving Time for the same six-month period except that a state legislature could decide to remain Standard Time. But, if it did so, the entire state would have to remain on Standard Time.

(Nebraska has not had Daylight Saving Time.)

DRAFT HIGHEST SINCE JANUARY

Washington (AP) — The Defense Department issued a call Tuesday for a draft of 34,600 men in May, the highest monthly quota since January.

All of the May draftees will be assigned to the Army, the Pentagon said. The April draft, also for the Army, totaled 21,700.

In January, a total of 38,280 men were summoned to service, 8,980 of them with the Marines. In February, the quota dropped to 29,400, with 3,000 for the Marines.

The March quota originally was set at 32,900 but was cut to 22,400 when enlistments exceeded expectations.

Red Sonic Booms

Berlin (AP) — Sonic booms caused by Soviet-made aircraft resounded in Berlin. With the arrival of better flying weather, military jet aircraft in Communist East Germany have resumed maneuver flights around the divided former German capital. In the past, such flights have caused property damage in both East and West Berlin as the aircraft broke through the sound barrier.

Ford Formally Demands Probe

Washington (UPI) — House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford said Tuesday there might be something to some current flying saucer reports. He formally demanded a congressional investigation to try to find out.

The Michigan congressman, whose home state has been the scene of reported sightings of unidentified flying objects, asked for an investigation by either the House Armed Services Committee or the House Space Committee.

But Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif., chairman of the Space Committee, said flying saucers were not in his jurisdiction.

He said it was up to the Armed Services Committee because it deals with the Air Force, which has investigated UFO reports.

Consideration

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said he "never put much stock" in flying saucers but added: "Of course, we'll give the Republican leader's request every consideration."

Ford's demand came amid a new flurry of UFO sightings.

Hundreds of persons, including policemen, fireman and newsmen, said they saw a UFO over Toledo Monday night. Depending on who saw it, the object was either orange, red, green, blue, or white, and either round, rectangular or cigar-shaped.

In Canada, three Toronto policemen said they saw a mysterious object Monday night southwest of Toronto International Airport.

They agreed it was "round, with flashing lights that changed color from white, to red, and blue, yellow and green." They said it settled in one spot for about an hour, then disappeared.

Coeds' Dorm

At Northern Illinois University in De Kalb, about 15 coeds said they saw a reddish-blue light over their dormitory for more than an hour early Tuesday.

There also were renewed sightings in Michigan.

A consultant to the Air Force has attributed some Michigan sightings to swamp gas.

But Ford said, "I do not agree that all of these reports can be or should be so easily explained away.

"I think we owe it to the people to establish credibility regarding UFOs and to produce the greatest possible enlightenment of this subject."

Ecuador's Junta Disbanded; Civilian Head Yerovi Picked

Quito, Ecuador (AP)—Ecuador's military junta was ousted by the armed forces chiefs Tuesday and replaced by a provisional civilian president, economist Clemente Yerovi Indaburo.

The change came swiftly after the military high command announced it was taking over to pick a president with the advice of political leaders. In consultation they agreed on Yerovi. The command said it fully supported Yerovi, who is 62.

Yerovi, in the port city of Guayaquil when notified, accepted and appealed by nationwide radio for a return to calm.

The fate of the three-man junta was not immediately known.

Some reports said the three had fled to Rio de Janeiro in a Brazilian air force plane, but airport officials denied it. Other reports said the junta had gone to Peru.

Yerovi, politically independent, is considered a liberal. A former minister of agriculture, he was given much credit for increasing Ecuador's banana exports.

Yerovi was the first president of the national planning council and Ecuador's ambassador to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) in Paris. He also represented his country at the Common Market in Europe.

Coiner Of 'Saucer' Term Thinks UFOs May Be Alive

By EARLE L. JESTER

Boise, Idaho (AP)—Kenneth D. Arnold, who ushered America into the flying saucer age 19 years ago, said Tuesday he is still confident the things are real—and he thinks they may even be alive.

Commenting on new sightings, Arnold declared in an interview:

"I think these people are reporting exactly what they saw. Let's face it, there are a great many things in the world we don't understand. Calling these things swamp gases is completely idiotic."

Arnold, a Boise businessman, made his saucer sighting June 24, 1947, while flying his light plane near Mt. Rainier, Wash.

He said he spotted nine objects swerving in and out of peaks and canyons "like geese in a diagonal chain-like line."

Arnold estimated its length as at least five miles and described the objects as "saucer-like."

Hence The Term

And so the name flying saucer was born.

In the years since, there have been reports of flying saucer sightings from all around the world, rising to a peak of 1,501 in the United States alone in 1952.

Nervous people feared that the earth was being scouted by beings from outer space. Skeptics suggested that military designers were trying out exotic new aircraft.

The U.S. Air Force set up Project Blue Book, with headquarters at Dayton, Ohio, to analyze the sighting reports. So far it has dealt with just over 10,000. Prosaic explanations were found for all but a handful.

Came Near

Arnold said there could be no "swamp gas" explanation of what he saw in 1947 and four other sightings he made from airplanes during the next five years.

"I came within a half a mile or two of them in 1952," Arnold said.

"I felt they were aware of me. I had the feeling these objects were alive, not machines. It seemed to me they had the ability to change density.

"These things are with us, whether we like it or not."

Air Force investigators, however, have attributed virtually all sightings to balloons or conventional aircraft, mirages, searchlights glinting off cloud layers or such bright heavenly bodies as Venus and Jupiter.

Some sightings have been identified with artificial satellites, or with pieces of them burning up in the atmosphere as gravity gradually draws them out of their orbits.

Some 650 objects have been classified by Project Blue Book as unexplained. But the investigators say there is no hint that even these were of extraterrestrial origin.

These UFOs Identifiable

Pasadena, Calif. (UPI) — So-called unidentified flying objects, reported Monday night by more than 100 persons, Tuesday turned out to be an exercise in psychology by some inventive Caltech students.

Police caustically referred to the balloons, to which flares had been attached in ingenious fashion, as "identifiable unidentified flying objects."

The students conceded they launched the balloons over a period of two weeks to see what the reaction would be.

. . . NO CHARGES FILED AGAINST YOUTHS

McCook (AP) — Eight job corpsmen accused of precipitating a fight at the mess hall of the McCook Job Corps Center, were escorted to North Platte Tuesday and started for their homes via public transportation, Clem Griffin, director of the center, reported.

No charges were filed against the eight who had been lodged in the Red Willow County jail since the disturbance Monday noon.

Given 'Pep Talk'

Griffin said none of the corpsmen were injured in the fracas apparently triggered by racial prejudice. He said the remaining corpsmen were called together Tuesday, given a "pep talk" and sent about their work. Morale appeared good under the circumstances, he added, and no further trouble is anticipated.

The disturbance broke out at a mess hall and was quickly put down by Job Corps staff members, although Sheriff Jim Short was summoned at the outset and asked to bring help. By the time he arrived with a deputy, a Safety Patrolman and five city police, the youths involved were back in their barracks.

Taken To Jail

Eight were loaded into a bus and taken to jail pending a determination on charges or other action.

At a community relations meeting Monday night, which had been scheduled prior to the incident, Griffin said the youth apparently responsible for the "spur-of-the moment" fracas, had previously been expelled and was due to leave the camp at 2 p.m.

Griffin, who has been camp director for only three weeks, said that prior to his arrival there had been no expulsions, but he had found it necessary to remove "seven or eight."

He said there appeared to be a lack of authority in the camp but noted that the problem was not as serious while numbers were small.

However, as enrollment increased more problems appeared, he said. There are now 92 youths at the camp which has been operated under the auspices of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and has been devoted largely to work on southwest Nebraska recreation areas. He noted there has been some enforced idleness recently due to weather.

Griffin said after Monday's disturbance, first serious trouble reported in the camp, 12 boys were examined by a physician but only two were treated. None of the staff members was injured in quelling the disturbance he said. There was no damage in the dining room where the outbreak occurred.

To Organize Council

At Monday night's meeting steps were taken to organize a community relations council with John T. Harris Sr. named interim chairman. Harris called for community understanding and tolerance.

"When this community went out after a Job Corps center it knew it wasn't going after a Sunday school," Harris said. "I would hope that it doesn't expect that now."

McCook Fight Not Changing Petersen's Backing Of Corps

By BOB SCHREPF
Staff Writer

Mayor Dean Petersen said Tuesday a disturbance at the McCook Job Corps center does not alter his support for establishment of a Job Corps center at Lincoln Air Force Base.

"I don't think you'll have trouble with Job Corps trainees if they are properly handled and supervised and their time is well occupied," the mayor said.

Petersen said only "a few people" in Lincoln object to the proposed center here because of fear the trainees would be unruly.

Hearing Monday

The City Council will hold a hearing Monday regarding public sentiment toward the application of Northern Natural Gas Co., as prime contractor, and the University of Nebraska to establish a 1,500-man training center after the base is deactivated.

Scheduled to appear at the hearings are Northern Natural officials, including J. O. Grantham, director-designate of the proposed center.

Council members contracted Tuesday said the McCook incident would not affect their basic judgment on whether to support the location of a center here.

Vice chairman Mrs. Helen Boosalis said one such disturbance "would not bother me, but a collective series of experiences like that might."

"We can't relate that type of thing to the high type of operation we hope to have here," said Councilman Lloyd Hinkley.

The council earlier supported recommendations by the Lincoln Opportunity Team and the Lincoln Airport Authority that negotiations continue with the federal Office of Economic Opportunity over a Job Corps contract, but it indicated that "more information" is needed before official backing is given to a base lease settlement with the General Services Administration.

At least two councilmen, John Comstock and Ervin Peterson, said they had "reservations" that need to be cleared up.

Curtis Advocates More Protection Around Centers

By the Associated Press

U.S. Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., said Tuesday he is recommending to the Office of Economic Opportunity that "every Job Corps Center provide law enforcement personnel comparable to military police at federal military installations."

"If this is impractical at any center, or is not done for any reason," Curtis said, "the Office of Economic Opportunity should make arrangements to reimburse local authorities so they can provide adequate police protection."

Curtis made the statement in connection with the arrest of eight enrollees after an incident at the McCook Job Corps Center Monday. The senator said the incident was another in a series across the country "that points up the need for additional federal security precautions."

PRAYERFUL PRIME MINISTER

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, seeking to lead his Labor Party to victory in Thursday's general election, struck a prayerful pose at his final news conference before the polls open. Barring an upset, his prayers will be answered. Odds on a Labor victory rose to 20 to 1 Tuesday. The issue of British entry into the Common Market built up as the Labor, Conservative and Liberal Parties pledged to lead the nation into the market. But Deputy Prime Minister George Brown said, "I don't want to lick (French President Charles) de Gaulle's boots."

SLEEPY HOLLOW STATE'S BIGGEST OIL FIELD

Denver, Colo. (AP) —Sleepy Hollow Field in Red Willow County's Cambridge Arch Area has become Nebraska's largest oil field, Petroleum Information reported Tuesday.

Its total production through 1965 was more than 15.8 million barrels of oil. The leading field in the Denver-Julesburg Basin is Sloss in Nebraska's Kimball County, with a total through last year of more than 15.1 million barrels.

The industry publication said Nebraska oil production has declined since 1962 with the state's 393 fields dwindling to 310 by the end of 1965.

Four new wildcats have been staked in Nebraska, three by production Cattle & Land, J. W. Vandeveer and Banner Drilling. Two of these are in Scotts Bluff County — 1 Lane and 1 Nichols — and the other, 1 Freeburg in Morrill County. The fourth wildcat is Midwest Oil's 1 Singleton in Banner County.

Baumfalk Gets 15-Year Term For Slaying Wife

Trenton (AP)—Kenneth L. Baumfalk was sentenced to 15 years in the Nebraska Penal Complex Tuesday for the second degree murder of his estranged wife, Elaine, at a Culbertson cafe last Nov. 4.

The sentence was handed down by District Judge Victor Westermark who called the rifle slaying of Mrs. Baumfalk "a tragic episode that was the outgrowth of a very sick marital relationship."

Mrs. Baumfalk, 31, mother of four, was slain with a hunting rifle as she left the cafe where she worked as a cook.

Westermark said Baumfalk would be eligible for parole in about 10 years. Hitchcock County Sheriff Richard League said he would take Baumfalk to the penitentiary in Lincoln.

Shows No Emotion

Baumfalk, 34, whose face was still bandaged from the bullet wound he inflicted upon himself after his wife was shot, displayed no emotion at his sentencing.

Baumfalk, of Culbertson, originally pleaded innocent or innocent by reason of insanity to a charge of first degree murder. Later he changed his plea to guilty of second degree murder. The plea was accepted.

8 Corpsmen Sent Home After McCook Fracas

. . . NO CHARGES FILED AGAINST YOUTHS

McCook (AP) — Eight job corpsmen accused of precipitating a fight at the mess hall of the McCook Job Corps Center, were escorted to North Platte Tuesday and started for their homes via public transportation, Clem Griffin, director of the center, reported.

No charges were filed against the eight who had been lodged in the Red Willow County jail since the disturbance Monday noon.

Given 'Pep Talk'

Griffin said none of the corpsmen were injured in the fracas apparently triggered by racial prejudice. He said the remaining corpsmen were called together Tuesday, given a "pep talk" and sent about their work. Morale appeared good under the circumstances, he added, and no further trouble is anticipated.

The disturbance broke out at a mess hall and was quickly put down by Job Corps staff members, although Sheriff Jim Short was summoned at the outset and asked to bring help. By the time he arrived with a deputy, a Safety Patrolman and five city police, the youths involved were back in their barracks.

Taken To Jail

Eight were loaded into a bus and taken to jail pending a determination on charges or other action.

At a community relations meeting Monday night, which had been scheduled prior to the incident, Griffin said the youth apparently responsible for the "spur-of-the moment" fracas, had previously been expelled and was due to leave the camp at 2 p.m.

Griffin, who has been camp director for only three weeks, said that prior to his arrival there had been no expulsions, but he had found it necessary to remove "seven or eight." He said there appeared to be a lack of authority in the camp but noted that the problem was not as serious while numbers were small.

However, as enrollment increased more problems appeared, he said. There are now 92 youths at the camp which has been operated under the auspices of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and has been devoted largely to work on southwest Nebraska recreation areas. He noted there has been some enforced idleness recently due to weather.

Griffin said after Monday's disturbance, first serious trouble reported in the camp, 12 boys were examined by a physician but only two were treated. None of the staff members was injured in quelling the disturbance he said. There was no damage in the dining room where the outbreak occurred.

To Organize Council

At Monday night's meeting steps were taken to organize a community relations council with John T. Harris Sr. named interim chairman. Harris called for community understanding and tolerance.

"When this community went out after a Job Corps center it knew it wasn't going after a Sunday school," Harris said. "I would hope that it doesn't expect that now."

Time For Courage

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

For the victor, the day after election is a heady experience. He has placed his name on the ballot and left a part of his future up to the people, most of whom he does not even know and many of whom he will never meet. And among all those on the ballot, most people have placed their confidence in him. He will sleep well that night, with visions of many fine things to be accomplished in the coming years.

But that is about the last peaceful moment this fellow will have. If you really want to know what public life is like, step into the breach today as now occupied by members of the City Council. Breathing down the necks of members are a host of people objecting to the planned improvements of Vine from 16th to 36th and South from 8th to 33rd. Absorbing the most heat at the council meeting was the planned use of medians or dividers for channelizing traffic and facilitating left turns. But in facilitating left turns, you have to control them and that is where the rub comes in.

Objections Many

Businesses located so they would front onto a divider are denied business they would obtain from left turning motorists. As a result, they take exception to the medians and want a break made in them to encourage left turns into their establishments. Even better, they would like the medians to be painted lines rather than solid concrete.

The deception in this is obvious as it is known that motorists will not honor painted lines when they don't want to. They have no choice with solid concrete and this is what the objectors know. If you substitute painted medians and left-turn lanes for concrete, forget about traffic movement.

Now, there are other objections but none of them carries much weight. There are those, for instance, who object to the removal of trees. Hundreds of big and beautiful trees between the street and sidewalk would be destroyed as a result of these improvements. South from 17th to Memorial Lane, for instance, would be badly denuded and this would be a substantial loss. This is an unfortunate situation, to be sure, but how can it be avoided? If South is to be a major arterial, it cannot be avoided and we fail to see how it can be anything else. There are other objections. Some additional right-of-way will have to be acquired, particularly at certain intersections. One business at 27th and Vine will lose the overhang on its building as a result of this. But no main part of any building will be taken and no building will be left without sidewalk in front of it.

Some of the sidewalk will be curb sidewalk and this isn't good. A moving lane of traffic will be running along the curb at all times. This means a constant threat of people accidentally falling or slipping from the sidewalk and landing in this lane of moving traffic. It means that when the gutters are full of water, the people on the sidewalks will be splashed by the moving traffic. This isn't good, either, but there is no other choice if you intend to make an arterial. We have already sacrificed the 48-foot-wide arterial for a 44-foot width in order to save money. This eliminates the parking lane or any extra room between moving lanes and the curb.

In general, we have eliminated the prohibition against left-turn lanes. There is a standard for the turning movement required to get into a left-turn lane. The standard is 30 foot of lane for every one foot of lateral movement. In Lincoln, we have gone to a 20-to-one rather than a 30-to-one standard in order to keep the length of medians or dividers at a minimum to save money and for the convenience of property owners.

How much more can we sacrifice? We have sacrificed at various places such as Cotner and N and 27th and P and it hasn't worked. To facilitate some special interest, we have done less than the traffic demanded from an engineering point of view and it always causes problems. Where we have done as we should, we have profited and no one has lost anything.

We still are trying in Lincoln to fit the street designs to the whim of the occasional traveler and the fancy of adjoining property owners. We can't do it if we want to move traffic. Drivers have demonstrated in Lincoln and in cities throughout the land that they can and will adjust to the demands placed upon them by arterial street designs. If they can't turn left, they will plan their trip so they don't have to turn left and in the end appreciate the speed with which they can get around as a result of this small sacrifice. When they want to reach a business, they will do so, regardless of left-turn lanes.

Adjustments Made

The City Council can listen to all these objections and then abort its traffic engineering counsel but if it does, it ought to get rid of its traffic experts because their salaries are a waste of money. This isn't an easy time to be in public office for a councilman but it is a time for courage and this is why they were elected. In the face of protests that have been made, council members might think of the thousands whose interests and convenience will be served by these improvements but who fail to make themselves heard.

Sign-up Nearly Over

One more day remains for the elderly to declare for the three dollar a month Social Security medical care program over and above the basic service.

This is the voluntary sign-up that will entitle the client to the payment of 80 per cent of his doctor bill over $50 annually and provide other services than the Medicare hospitalization program.

In Nebraska 80 per cent of the eligibles have signed up, enough to meet the program's minimum target. Actually only 10,500 of Nebraska's 180,000 eligibles have specifically said no to the program.

The program goes into effect July 1. That means with the clients signed up, three months will be allowed for hospital and medical adjustments to be made to handle the new volume of work. In Nebraska the hospital changes are going on apace. The question remains, How hard will the hospitals and medical profession be hit come July 1?

There will be an increase of load, no doubt. But we doubt that it will be overwhelming. Sickness occurs or does not occur on its own timetable. The fifty dollar deductible clause will eliminate those who are only hopeful, but not really ill.

For the truly ill the program will have its greatest boon in helping to pay the bill. And that is what it is designed to do.

Full Year Of School

The Nebraska State Education Association has disposed of objections raised by the Lincoln Education Association to statements made by NSEA Executive Secretary John Lynch but has not settled the issue raised by Lynch. Among other things, Lynch had expressed the opinion that a 12-month school year was essential before teachers could expect to be paid the kind of professional salaries to which they are entitled.

Properly, it seems, the state group took no action against Lynch, as was suggested by the Lincoln group. It might be added at this point that Lynch has been a highly effective and dedicated worker in the cause of professional education. If some in his group find disagreement with him on this subject of a 12-month school year or on the propriety of his saying anything about it, it is a small thing in comparison to the value he has been to education.

No small part of his great value has been the willingness with which he has spoken at all times in behalf of education. If his voice is to be silenced in any way, professional education will lose one of its most ardent advocates. Lynch has been a fighter for education and you can't fight those days in silence. And an occasional difference with what is said is a cheap price for what you get in return.

As to the 12-month school year, it demands a lot of study before it could be inaugurated but this it might well receive. Right or wrong, there is a lot of truth in what Lynch says. The general public does resent the three-month teacher vacation, or at least thinks that salaries should reflect this fact. More important is how valuable a 12-month school year would be as an educational tool and what tax savings it would provide in meeting the growing needs of education.

Unchanging Youth

Adult disapproval of the teen age generation is an everpresent phenomenon, but right now it is more poignant.

We cannot recall a time in all history when the adult generation approved of its teen age group. And we cannot cite a time when the teen agers cared much about adult judgment.

The basic differences continue. Each teen age group grew up under circumstances differing from those of the elders. And each group responds accordingly. Most teen agers in a few years take on all the disabilities of adulthood, become frozen in their tracks, conformist and in due time cuss the younger generation. That is part of the life cycle.

In the older days it was a little better. It took a much longer time for general changes to take place and for that reason teen agers varied but little from the adults, except in the fact that they were teen agers and given to upsetting behaviour. Today great new facts descend upon the human race by the day and the reactions to them are more dramatic.

The present generation of adults has a further hardship of seeing too much of the teen age in action. The papers are full of it. The television puts on hullaballoo type programs and the phenomenon is constantly before the eyes of the adults. It is inescapable. There was a time when the young folks went out of sight and, therefore, were more tolerable.

But we can ask ourselves, was the Turkey Trot any better than today's dances? How about the Charleston or Black Bottom? Or later what about cutting a rug and Jive? And clothes. Can anyone remember the teen agers who wore the bellbottom pants? Or when the girls decked themselves out in white coveralls and dyed a white streak in their hair. No difference except those people are now adults. They wear girdles. The white hair streaks are gone, because the men are now bald headed.

The only thing we can make of it all is that youth is an estate in itself and adulthood is the inevitable end of that estate. Rather sad, isn't it?

Gum-Shoeing Is Washington Game

WASHINGTON — "Everybody's doing it" used to be the name of a ragtime tune referring to a popular dance, "The Turkey Trot." Today it refers to the 'gum-shoe trot."

Everybody's dancing this dance today. General Motors is gum-shoeing its chief critic, Ralph Nader. The State Department is gum-shoeing the grandson of a former secretary of state. Miss Frances Knight, chief of the passport division, who signed this order, says that her boss in the State Department is gum-shoeing on her.

Congressman Irving Whalley, the Pennsylvania Republican, wants the FBI to gum-shoe on me for telling how he sent teakwood elephants Republicans which he said were purchased in India, when he really got them from a Republican committee bargain sale in Washington.

Sen. Dodd, in turn, has retained a private detective, with the reported cooperation of U.S. Court of Appeals Judge Irving Kaufman of New York, to gum-shoe on us.

And the other day I got a phone call from two friends in Reidsville, N.C., that an agent friendly to Sen. Dodd had called to gum-shoe on a bathing incident in 1915 when I was arrested at 3 a.m. for taking a sponge bath near the Southern railway yards after working all night striking a Chautauqua tent.

It's an incident I have written about several times and has become quite a joke in North Carolina. I was even invited back to Reidsville by the Chamber of Commerce to celebrate the occasion.

Nevertheless, C. L. Oliver, publisher of the Reidsville Review, was cross-examined by a friend of Sen. Dodd's as to where he could get a copy of a 1915 newspaper describing the incident. Unfortunately they had been destroyed in a fire a long time ago. The Mr. Oliver assured the Dodd agent, however, that the newspaper, if available, would have clearly showed I was acquitted, and that there was nothing sinister about the arrest and trial.

T. W. Gladewell, son of the attorney who volunteered to defend me in court on that misty morning 51 years ago, was also queried by a Dodd agent and gave the same assurances.

Meanwhile, since everybody else was doing it, Jack Anderson decided to do some gum-shoeing ourselves on the private eye sent from New York to shadow us.

He is James A. Lynch, of 3005 Johnson Place, Wantagh, Long Island, a big man in his late forties with reddish hair and ample girth whom Jack found to have registered at the Fairfax Hotel and next day reported to Senator Dodd.

Test Ban Treaty Under Examination

WASHINGTON — An examination of the nuclear test-ban treaty, its present workings and future prospects, is under consideration as the next educational project of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

This was the treaty which President Kennedy initiated and concluded in six historic, hopeful weeks in the summer of 1963. It represented the first successful presidential effort in 18 years to reach beyond the cold war, and Kennedy regarded it as a limited beginning only.

But he pleaded for it with the memorable reminder, "A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step," and biographer Theodore Sorensen was later to write: "No other single accomplishment in the White House ever gave him greater satisfaction."

Chairman J. William Fulbright of the committee and his aides believe the exploration of the treaty is a logical step after the China hearings conclude this week. Red China is a very junior nuclear power and refused in 1963 to sign the treaty with Washington, Moscow, London and about 100 others. Nor did France sign, and she has now renounced the NATO alliance as well.

The new hearings which will not begin until after Easter would seem naturally to lead into the question of what effect the nuclear recalcitrance of Red China and France will have on United States policy. It is especially timely, since some movement of NATO forces must follow the new French move.

Supporters of the China hearings are on the whole well satisfied with them. They caught the White House attention and produced the vice-president's description of official policy as "containment but not isolation." Just what this means practically is unclear, but it suggests that the former rigid postures are null and void.

The witnesses displayed a diversity of views which disarmed potential critics. Toward the end some of the old China hands sought to inject emotions previously absent, but the senators associated with past policy remained cool.

The general impression of close observers is that change is in the air and that Congress for the moment at least is welling to be informed but not to take rigid positions on either side of the argument. The questions were not so penetrating as to suggest that anyone was ready yet with a new solution or a rational way of continuing the old.

The same calm is indicated for the nuclear treaty discussions. Public sentiment for the treaty was overwhelming in 1963, and it was ratified by the Senate with only 11 Democrats (all Southerner's except Frank Lausche of Ohio) and eight Republicans voting no. The ayes included 55 Democrats and 25 Republicans.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Bureaucracy, A Mounting Problem

WASHINGTON — Shortly after the late Edward R. Murrow became director of the United States Information Agency one of the bright young men he brought in with him recommended that he fire an officer who had long demonstrated his singular incompetence. Look, Murrow responded, I've learned one thing around here and that is that you can't fire anybody unless you catch them committing murder in broad daylight in Lafayette Square.

The remark underscores the troubles in the State Department over the firing—it amounted to that—of Abba P. Schwartz as administrator of Security and Consular Affairs. Civil service, as Murrow discovered when he stepped into the midst of a complex bureaucracy, has many virtues but it also puts many handicaps on an executive seeking efficiency and/or harmony in the operation of a government department.

With the reverberations of the Schwartz affair the State Department currently appears to be a collection of warring tribes. All the bitter complaints that the late President John F. Kennedy voiced from time to time about the department seem born out by the disarray reflected in the charges and countercharges coming out of foggy bottom.

Miss Frances G. Knight, the efficient head of the passport division, is a civil servant with such advanced status that she believed she could establish her own policy on Americans traveling abroad. Schwartz, who was named to his office by President Kennedy, thought that Miss Knight was exceeding her authority and he moved to have her transferred. But the lady in the Passport Bureau, theoretically under Schwartz's jurisdiction, proved to have such influential subterranean connections with the Senate's International Security Subcommittee that she stayed and Schwartz departed.

To the ongoing brawl Miss Knight has contributed the word creep, which she applies to her opponents presumably both in and out of the department. Webster gives the slang meaning of the noun creep as (A) a flophouse sneak thief, (B) an obnoxious or insignificant persons. In Miss Knight's usage it may be taken to mean also one who conspires in a furtive and underhanded manner. As Miss Knight must know, this is a term her opponents have applied to the head of the passport division and her allies in the struggle over travel and visa policy.

In short, the whole business is creepy and one of the creepiest aspects involves still another character in the security tangle. Charged with unauthorized acts in furnishing confidential department documents to the Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate, Otto Otepka was removed from his post as chief security evaluator. But, if only because of his dedicated partisans in the Senate committee, he could not be fired. Assigned a make-work job and deprived of that ultimate status of authority, a secretary, Otepka has caused officials from the secretary of state on down endless hours of dissension and debate.

Actually, of course, this is only a very small part of state's vast operation. But if anything could demonstrate the need for a reorganization of the department this is it. That hope has beckoned like a mirage across the bureaucratic desert for at least five years.

When Kennedy named him an undersecretary, Chester Bowles, now ambassador to India, was to reshape administration in the department. But like others before him in that assignment he became interested in complex issues of foreign policy. The old liners in the department, veterans of so many battles, resented his determination to bring in able outsiders. And when in a long confidential memorandum in 1961 he proposed a "Two China" policy as a way out of the dead end in Asia he made more enemies.

After Bowles was leased out no one had the clear responsibility for administration. Undersecretary of State George Ball became absorbed in the problem of France and the threat to the future of NATO. This, along with other urgent policy pressures, consumed the typical seven-day, 12-hour-a-day week of the first-line officials of this administration.

Cruelly overburdened as he is, no one could expect Secretary Rusk to undertake the kind of thorough reorganization that is long overdue. The secretary barely keeps his head above the constantly rising demands on his time and effort. His endurance is a source of wonder and admiration to those who know the tasks, large and small, that he must perform.

Deputy Undersecretary for Administration William J. Crockett would in theory have the authority to carry out a reorganization. In the Schwartz affair his friends have rallied to his defense, absolving him of animus in directing the administrative shuffle that forced Schwartz out. The voluminous hearings of the Internal Security Subcommittee show that he had his own troubles with Miss Knight. What is in doubt is the degree of authority Crockett can exercise. The larger question is whether anyone can shape the overgrown structure into an effective and coherent instrument of policy.

New Dorms

Lincoln, Neb.

For three generations the university enrollment has increased. Providing food and lodging for these students has given employment to numberless families and meant substantial taxes for the city.

Around 1960 land was removed from the tax rolls to build dormitories to house some 800 students — and Lincoln' housing and restaurant job opportunities diminished accordingly.

Now, with the Air Base closing we are faced with a big tax loss from vacancies created by this exodus of military families and merchants dependent on their trade.

It is therefore difficult to understand why more dormitories, this time for 1,900 students, are to be built. Here go employment and city taxes of people able to furnish board and room for 1,900 customers. Surely Lincoln's aim is to increase locally financed job opportunities, not destroy them.

On Phonics

Seward, Neb.

Recently I read an article in The Star, entitled "Phonics Is Overlooked in Guide."

I feel this is one of the reasons we need so many remedial reading courses—no phonics. One should check a group of adults for good reading. Those who went through the phonics period are good readers and spellers, and therefore better all-around students, because if a person cannot real well, none of the subjects is understood. I have watched this and pupils who have had phonics can out-read and outspell any who haven't had it.

This should be a concern of every parent and grandparent, and especially teachers. Or do the teachers like the extra pay they get for remedial reading teaching?

Abie, Neb.

After reading about the destruction Mother Nature spread across the Midlands, one cannot help but commend the repair crews of the power and telephone companies, who have to go out under all weather conditions and at all hours of the night.

Our little farm community here was without power for 50 hours. Our water supply, heat and refrigeration depend on electricity. But we Nebraskans do not cut in on national TV programs, screaming to the nation that a few of our light bulbs went out. Things could have been worse.

We are just . . .

Calico Cat

Lincoln, Neb.

Regarding the letter from Twyla M. Lubben on the incidence of males among tricolored cats, the chances of such incidence are extremely rare.

A cat of three colors—either black, yellow or gray or black, red and cream—with no white, is by breed standards a tortoise-shell cat. If there is also some white fur, the cat is, quite naturally, a tortoise-shell-and-white. In this country these combinations are usually referred to as "calico."

In the Orient, calico cats are believed to bring good luck and ward off evil spirits, males being particularly valued because of their rarity. American tradition holds that the calico is a better mouser than any other cat. Perhaps this is also related to the fact that they are usually female, since female cats are, as a rule, best at rodent hunting.

Ida M. Mellen, zoologist, states in "A Practical Cat Book" (Scribners, 1946), "Tortoise-shell . . . males are scarce. At present the male has no value except for breeding experiments, but individuals have sold for more than $500, and a Danish cat fancier a few years ago offered 10,000 kronen (about $2,500) for one. . . . Males not infrequently are sterile, though . . . when fertile they breed like ordinary yellow cats and sire kittens of both sexes."

Explanation for the rare incidence of males among multi-colored cats lies in genetics. In domestic cats, as in other mammals, color pigmentation is determined by the inheritance of characteristics through certain sets of genes. Some of these sets or gene patterns are sex-linked characteristics; that is, occurring most frequently in one sex, rarely in the other.

The most readable treatment of this subject I have come across recently is in "Man and the Living World," by the German biologist Karl von Frisch (Harcourt, Brace & World, 1963; special reprint by Time Life Books, 1965).

If my husband did not insist that the two cats currently in residence make up the absolute quota of felines this household will harbor, I would like to make an offer for the calico kitten. Along with their grace and charm as pets, cats are clean, intelligent and very useful animals—especially in a grain-producing area.

My thanks to Mrs. Lubben for sharing the news of this interesting phenomenon. I hope she will raise the calico tom kitten, and inform us of further development.

Time For Courage

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

For the victor, the day after election is a heady experience. He has placed his name on the ballot and left a part of his future up to the people, most of whom he does not even know and many of whom he will never meet. And among all those on the ballot, most people have placed their confidence in him. He will sleep well that night, with visions of many fine things to be accomplished in the coming years.

But that is about the last peaceful moment this fellow will have. If you really want to know what public life is like, step into the breach today as now occupied by members of the City Council. Breathing down the necks of members are a host of people objecting to the planned improvements of Vine from 16th to 36th and South from 8th to 33rd. Absorbing the most heat at the council meeting was the planned use of medians or dividers for channelizing traffic and facilitating left turns. But in facilitating left turns, you have to control them and that is where the rub comes in.

Objections Many

Businesses located so they would front onto a divider are denied business they would obtain from left turning motorists. As a result, they take exception to the medians and want a break made in them to encourage left turns into their establishments. Even better, they would like the medians to be painted lines rather than solid concrete.

The deception in this is obvious as it is known that motorists will not honor painted lines when they don't want to. They have no choice with solid concrete and this is what the objectors know. If you substitute painted medians and left-turn lanes for concrete, forget about traffic movement.

Now, there are other objections but none of them carries much weight. There are those, for instance, who object to the removal of trees. Hundreds of big and beautiful trees between the street and sidewalk would be destroyed as a result of these improvements. South from 17th to Memorial Lane, for instance, would be badly denuded and this would be a substantial loss. This is an unfortunate situation, to be sure, but how can it be avoided? If South is to be a major arterial, it cannot be avoided and we fail to see how it can be anything else. There are other objections. Some additional right-of-way will have to be acquired, particularly at certain intersections. One business at 27th and Vine will lose the overhang on its building as a result of this. But no main part of any building will be taken and no building will be left without sidewalk in front of it.

Some of the sidewalk will be curb sidewalk and this isn't good. A moving lane of traffic will be running along the curb at all times. This means a constant threat of people accidentally falling or slipping from the sidewalk and landing in this lane of moving traffic. It means that when the gutters are full of water, the people on the sidewalks will be splashed by the moving traffic. This isn't good, either, but there is no other choice if you intend to make an arterial. We have already sacrificed the 48-foot-wide arterial for a 44-foot width in order to save money. This eliminates the parking lane or any extra room between moving lanes and the curb.

In general, we have eliminated the prohibition against left-turn lanes. There is a standard for the turning movement required to get into a left-turn lane. The standard is 30 foot of lane for every one foot of lateral movement. In Lincoln, we have gone to a 20-to-one rather than a 30-to-one standard in order to keep the length of medians or dividers at a minimum to save money and for the convenience of property owners.

How much more can we sacrifice? We have sacrificed at various places such as Cotner and N and 27th and P and it hasn't worked. To facilitate some special interest, we have done less than the traffic demanded from an engineering point of view and it always causes problems. Where we have done as we should, we have profited and no one has lost anything.

We still are trying in Lincoln to fit the street designs to the whim of the occasional traveler and the fancy of adjoining property owners. We can't do it if we want to move traffic. Drivers have demonstrated in Lincoln and in cities throughout the land that they can and will adjust to the demands placed upon them by arterial street designs. If they can't turn left, they will plan their trip so they don't have to turn left and in the end appreciate the speed with which they can get around as a result of this small sacrifice. When they want to reach a business, they will do so, regardless of left-turn lanes.

Adjustments Made

The City Council can listen to all these objections and then abort its traffic engineering counsel but if it does, it ought to get rid of its traffic experts because their salaries are a waste of money. This isn't an easy time to be in public office for a councilman but it is a time for courage and this is why they were elected. In the face of protests that have been made, council members might think of the thousands whose interests and convenience will be served by these improvements but who fail to make themselves heard.

Gum-Shoeing Is Washington Game

WASHINGTON — "Everybody's doing it" used to be the name of a ragtime tune referring to a popular dance, "The Turkey Trot." Today it refers to the "gum-shoe trot."

Everybody's dancing this dance today. General Motors is gum-shoeing its chief critic, Ralph Nader. The State Department is gum-shoeing the grandson of a former secretary of state. Miss Frances Knight, chief of the passport division, who signed this order, says that her boss in the State Department is gum-shoeing on her.

Congressman Irving Whalley, the Pennsylvania Republican, wants the FBI to gum-shoe on me for telling how he sent teakwood elephants Republicans which he said were purchased in India, when he really got them from a Republican committee bargain sale in Washington.

Sen. Dodd, in turn, has retained a private detective, with the reported cooperation of U.S. Court of Appeals Judge Irving Kaufman of New York, to gum-shoe on us.

And the other day I got a phone call from two friends in Reidsville, N.C., that an agent friendly to Sen. Dodd had called to gum-shoe on a bathing incident in 1915 when I was arrested at 3 a.m. for taking a sponge bath near the Southern railway yards after working all night striking a Chautauqua tent.

It's an incident I have written about several times and has become quite a joke in North Carolina. I was even invited back to Reidsville by the Chamber of Commerce to celebrate the occasion.

Nevertheless, C. L. Oliver, publisher of the Reidsville Review, was cross-examined by a friend of Sen. Dodd's as to where he could get a copy of a 1915 newspaper describing the incident. Unfortunately they had been destroyed in a fire a long time ago. The Mr. Oliver assured the Dodd agent, however, that the newspaper, if available, would have clearly showed I was acquitted, and that there was nothing sinister about the arrest and trial.

T. W. Gladewell, son of the attorney who volunteered to defend me in court on that misty morning 51 years ago, was also queried by a Dodd agent and gave the same assurances.

Meanwhile, since everybody else was doing it, Jack Anderson decided to do some gum-shoeing ourselves on the private eye sent from New York to shadow us.

He is James A. Lynch, of 3005 Johnson Place, Wantagh, Long Island, a big man in his late forties with reddish hair and ample girth whom Jack found to have registered at the Fairfax Hotel and next day reported to Senator Dodd.

Test Ban Treaty Under Examination

WASHINGTON — An examination of the nuclear test-ban treaty, its present workings and future prospects, is under consideration as the next educational project of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

This was the treaty which President Kennedy initiated and concluded in six historic, hopeful weeks in the summer of 1963. It represented the first successful presidential effort in 18 years to reach beyond the cold war, and Kennedy regarded it as a limited beginning only.

But he pleaded for it with the memorable reminder, "A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step," and biographer Theodore Sorensen was later to write: "No other single accomplishment in the White House ever gave him greater satisfaction."

Chairman J. William Fulbright of the committee and his aides believe the exploration of the treaty is a logical step after the China hearings conclude this week. Red China is a very junior nuclear power and refused in 1963 to sign the treaty with Washington, Moscow, London and about 100 others. Nor did France sign, and she has now renounced the NATO alliance as well.

The new hearings which will not begin until after Easter would seem naturally to lead into the question of what effect the nuclear recalcitrance of Red China and France will have on United States policy. It is especially timely, since some movement of NATO forces must follow the new French move.

Supporters of the China hearings are on the whole well satisfied with them. They caught the White House attention and produced the vice-president's description of official policy as "containment but not isolation." Just what this means practically is unclear, but it suggests that the former rigid postures are null and void.

The witnesses displayed a diversity of views which disarmed potential critics. Toward the end some of the old China hands sought to inject emotions previously absent, but the senators associated with past policy remained cool.

The general impression of close observers is that change is in the air and that Congress for the moment at least is welling to be informed but not to take rigid positions on either side of the argument. The questions were not so penetrating as to suggest that anyone was ready yet with a new solution or a rational way of continuing the old.

The same calm is indicated for the nuclear treaty discussions. Public sentiment for the treaty was overwhelming in 1963, and it was ratified by the Senate with only 11 Democrats (all Southerner's except Frank Lausche of Ohio) and eight Republicans voting no. The ayes included 55 Democrats and 25 Republicans.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Bureaucracy, A Mounting Problem

WASHINGTON — Shortly after the late Edward R. Murrow became director of the United States Information Agency one of the bright young men he brought in with him recommended that he fire an officer who had long demonstrated his singular incompetence. Look, Murrow responded, I've learned one thing around here and that is that you can't fire anybody unless you catch them committing murder in broad daylight in Lafayette Square.

The remark underscores the troubles in the State Department over the firing—it amounted to that—of Abba P. Schwartz as administrator of Security and Consular Affairs. Civil service, as Murrow discovered when he stepped into the midst of a complex bureaucracy, has many virtues but it also puts many handicaps on an executive seeking efficiency and/or harmony in the operation of a government department.

With the reverberations of the Schwartz affair the State Department currently appears to be a collection of warring tribes. All the bitter complaints that the late President John F. Kennedy voiced from time to time about the department seem born out by the disarray reflected in the charges and countercharges coming out of foggy bottom.

Miss Frances G. Knight, the efficient head of the passport division, is a civil servant with such advanced status that she believed she could establish her own policy on Americans traveling abroad. Schwartz, who was named to his office by President Kennedy, thought that Miss Knight was exceeding her authority and he moved to have her transferred. But the lady in the Passport Bureau, theoretically under Schwartz's jurisdiction, proved to have such influential subterranean connections with the Senate's International Security Subcommittee that she stayed and Schwartz departed.

To the ongoing brawl Miss Knight has contributed the word creep, which she applies to her opponents presumably both in and out of the department. Webster gives the slang meaning of the noun creep as (A) a flophouse sneak thief, (B) an obnoxious or insignificant persons. In Miss Knight's usage it may be taken to mean also one who conspires in a furtive and underhanded manner. As Miss Knight must know, this is a term her opponents have applied to the head of the passport division and her allies in the struggle over travel and visa policy.

In short, the whole business is creepy and one of the creepiest aspects involves still another character in the security tangle. Charged with unauthorized acts in furnishing confidential department documents to the Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate, Otto Otepka was removed from his post as chief security evaluator. But, if only because of his dedicated partisans in the Senate committee, he could not be fired. Assigned a make-work job and deprived of that ultimate status of authority, a secretary, Otepka has caused officials from the secretary of state on down endless hours of dissension and debate.

Actually, of course, this is only a very small part of state's vast operation. But if anything could demonstrate the need for a reorganization of the department this is it. That hope has beckoned like a mirage across the bureaucratic desert for at least five years.

When Kennedy named him an undersecretary, Chester Bowles, now ambassador to India, was to reshape administration in the department. But like others before him in that assignment he became interested in complex issues of foreign policy. The old liners in the department, veterans of so many battles, resented his determination to bring in able outsiders. And when in a long confidential memorandum in 1961 he proposed a "Two China" policy as a way out of the dead end in Asia he made more enemies.

After Bowles was eased out no one had the clear responsibility for administration. Undersecretary of State George Ball became absorbed in the problem of France and the threat to the future of NATO. This, along with other urgent policy pressures, consumed the typical seven-day, 12-hour-a-day week of the first-line officials of this administration.

Cruelly overburdened as he is, no one could expect Secretary Rusk to undertake the kind of thorough reorganization that is long overdue. The secretary barely keeps his head above the constantly rising demands on his time and effort. His endurance is a source of wonder and admiration to those who know the tasks, large and small, that he must perform.

Deputy Undersecretary for Administration William J. Crockett would in theory have the authority to carry out a reorganization. In the Schwartz affair his friends have rallied to his defense, absolving him of animus in directing the administrative shuffle that forced Schwartz out. The voluminous hearings of the Internal Security Subcommittee show that he had his own troubles with Miss Knight. What is in doubt is the degree of authority Crockett can exercise. The larger question is whether anyone can shape the overgrown structure into an effective and coherent instrument of policy.

New Dorms

Lincoln, Neb.

For three generations the university enrollment has increased. Providing food and lodging for these students has given employment to numberless families and meant substantial taxes for the city.

Around 1960 land was removed from the tax rolls to build dormitories to house some 800 students — and Lincoln' housing and restaurant job opportunities diminished accordingly.

Now, with the Air Base closing we are faced with a big tax loss from vacancies created by this exodus of military families and merchants dependent on their trade.

It is therefore difficult to understand why more dormitories, this time for 1,900 students, are to be built. Here go employment and city taxes of people able to furnish board and room for 1,900 customers. Surely Lincoln's aim is to increase locally financed job opportunities, not destroy them.

On Phonics

Seward, Neb.

Recently I read an article in The Star, entitled "Phonics Is Overlooked in Guide."

I feel this is one of the reasons we need so many remedial reading courses—no phonics. One should check a group of adults for good reading. Those who went through the phonics period are good readers and spellers, and therefore better all-around students, because if a person cannot real well, none of the subjects is understood. I have watched this and pupils who have had phonics can out-read and outspell any who haven't had it.

This should be a concern of every parent and grandparent, and especially teachers. Or do the teachers like the extra pay they get for remedial reading teaching?

Waiting It Out

Abie, Neb.

After reading about the destruction Mother Nature spread across the Midlands, one cannot help but commend the repair crews of the power and telephone companies, who have to go out under all weather conditions and at all hours of the night.

Our little farm community here was without power for 50 hours. Our water supply, heat and refrigeration depend on electricity. But we Nebraskans do not cut in on national TV programs, screaming to the nation that a few of our light bulbs went out. Things could have been worse.

We are just . . .

Lincoln, Neb.

Regarding the letter from Twyla M. Lubben on the incidence of males among tricolored cats, the chances of such incidence are extremely rare.

A cat of three colors—either black, yellow or gray or black, red and cream—with no white, is by breed standards a tortoise-shell cat. If there is also some white fur, the cat is, quite naturally, a tortoise-shell-and-white. In this country these combinations are usually referred to as "calico."

In the Orient, calico cats are believed to bring good luck and ward off evil spirits, males being particularly valued because of their rarity. American tradition holds that the calico is a better mouser than any other cat. Perhaps this is also related to the fact that they are usually female, since female cats are, as a rule, best at rodent hunting.

Ida M. Mellen, zoologist, states in "A Practical Cat Book" (Scribners, 1946), "Tortoise-shell . . . males are scarce. At present the male has no value except for breeding experiments, but individuals have sold for more than $500, and a Danish cat fancier a few years ago offered 10,000 kronen (about $2,500) for one. . . . Males not infrequently are sterile, though . . . when fertile they breed like ordinary yellow cats and sire kittens of both sexes."

Explanation for the rare incidence of males among multi-colored cats lies in genetics. In domestic cats, as in other mammals, color pigmentation is determined by the inheritance of characteristics through certain sets of genes. Some of these sets or gene patterns are sex-linked characteristics; that is, occurring most frequently in one sex, rarely in the other.

The most readable treatment of this subject I have come across recently is in "Man and the Living World," by the German biologist Karl von Frisch (Harcourt, Brace & World, 1963; special reprint by Time Life Books, 1965).

If my husband did not insist that the two cats currently in residence make up the absolute quota of felines this household will harbor, I would like to make an offer for the calico kitten. Along with their grace and charm as pets, cats are clean, intelligent and very useful animals—especially in a grain-producing area.

My thanks to Mrs. Lubben for sharing the news of this interesting phenomenon. I hope she will raise the calico tom kitten, and inform us of further development.

Rent Subsidy, Teacher Corps Cash Passed Despite GOP Cut Efforts

Washington (AP)—In a smashing victory for the Johnson administration, the House sent to the Senate Tuesday an omnibus appropriation bill containing $12 million for rent subsidies and $10 million for the Teachers Corps.

Republican efforts to eliminate money for the two new "Great Society" programs, approved but not financed by Congress last year, were beaten back. So was a GOP attempt to eliminate additional funds for impacted school districts.

Republicans warned of inflation and tax increases and Democrats accused the GOP of being unmindful of the needs of the nation's poor people.

Stands On Roll Call

The rent subsidy money, kept in the bill earlier by standing vote of 183 to 153 remained in on a later roll-call count of 198 to 190. There was no roll-call vote on the Teachers Corps fund.

On the 198-190 tally, Nebraska GOP Reps. Glenn Cunningham and David Martin voted in favor and Democratic Rep. Clair Callen voted against.

Most of the money, $248,679,600 less than President Johnson requested, is for use during the balance of the fiscal year ending June 30. Additional financing for the programs involved will be included in later measures for the new fiscal year.

There was no controversy over some of the larger allotments, including: the cost of pay raises voted last year for military and civilian federal employes; aid for elementary and secondary education; advances to the fund for health insurance for the elderly; welfare grants to states; and new veterans' benefits programs.

Low Income Housing

The rent program is designed to provide better housing for low income groups by paying part of the rent to nonprofit organizations that construct the housing.

The Teachers Corps program would provide additional educational help for children of poor families by paying the salaries of persons who helped tutor the children outside their regular classes.

A restriction attached to the Teachers Corps allotment would require local communities to pay at least 10% of the cost.

A restriction on the rent subsidy money would limit its use to projects officially approved by local communities.

Second Man Fined In Illegal Liquor Case

A second man involved in the manufacture of liquor without a license near Raymond pleaded guilty in Lancaster County Court Tuesday and was fined $40.

Alfredo Blea 29, of Raymond was identified by authorities as the owner of a building in which Harold A. Fasick manufactured liquor. Fasick pleaded guilty and was fined $200 on the same charge Monday.

The pair was arrested after a State Safety Patrolman observed evidence of a still on the property while on the premises concerning another matter.

COOK COUNTY AUTHORITY TO DISCUSS JAILS

The Lincoln League of Women Voters Tuesday announced plans to bring Warden Jack Johnson of the Cook County Jail in Illinois to Lincoln to discuss jail facilities.

The league has been studying jail standards in view of plans to include jail facilities in the new City-County Building.

Johnson was invited "to stimulate public thinkmg" on the subject, the league said.

He will speak at a public luncheon April 6 on "Community Jails for the 21st Century."

Bridge Damaged; Suit Names Man, Construction Co.

Lancaster County filed a $2,163 suit in Lancaster District Court Tuesday against Brandt Construction Co. Inc. and Gary Bors of Crete in connection with damage to a bridge in 1963.

The county alleges negligence on the part of the defendants hen Bors, operator of a piece of heavy equipment, drove the vehicle, which allegedly exceeded five tons in weight, on a five-ton capacity county bridge on Salt Creek about four miles north of Hallam.

The county petition states that the weight limit of the bridge was posted and the bridge had to be replaced at a cost of $2,163 to restore it to its condition when the accident occurred on Aug. 26, 1963.

Cigarette Sale Up Despite Health Label

New York (AP)—The newly required health warning on cigarette packages apparently has failed to cut cigarette sales.

In fact, more cigarettes were sent to market in January than in December, and some forecasts indicate production and consumption might reach record highs again this year.

January was the first month in which manufacturers were required to print this warning on packages: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

Figures show 39,356,000,000 cigarettes were moved from factories in Janary compared with 39,086,000,000 in January 1965 and 37,720,000,000 in December 1965.
December 1965.

The comparison may not be conclusive because manufacturers' warehouses contained packages which did not carry the warning. Such packages were sold until the supply was exhausted.

County OKs Tax Penalty Repayments

The Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday authorized more than $1,400 in refunds claimed by persons who paid personal property penalties in 1962 which were declared unconstitutional by the State Supreme Court last year.

Checks totaling $16,286, not including the 134 claims approved Tuesday, have already been mailed to taxpayers who have filed their claims on 1962 penalties.

According to the county assessor's office, those represent about one-half of the 1962 claims or about one-sixth of the refunds for the three years — 1962, 1963 and 1964 — which are to be made.

In other business, the board recommended approval of bottle club licenses for the clubhouse at the Knolls and for the Ranch-Bowl in Emerald.

Stromer Urges Sufficient Funds For University

A Lincoln legislator said Tuesday it's very important that the University of Nebraska be given sufficient funds to maintain a high-quality educational program.

Sen. Marvin E. Stromer suggested either calling a special session of the Legislature or providing a deficit appropriation in the first days of the regular 1967 session.

He said he's against raising student tuition rates or diverting money already allocated to the institution.

The University has said it needs about $500,000 to carry it through the two-year fiscal period ending June 30, 1967. The shortage developed because of larger-than-expected enrollments.

Financial Aid Not Top College Factor

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

"Financial aid, in the main, does not appear to be the single, crucial factor in college planning and enrollment," Russell Brown, assistant to the vice chancellor of student affairs at the University of Nebraska said here Tuesday.

Financial aid most often determines where a student attends school rather than if he does, Brown told some 130 secondary and college financial aid advisers, counselors, administrators and scholarship agency representatives attending a conference on Financial Aid Opportunities for College Students.

The two-day meeting was sponsored by the University and the College Scholarship Service. It drew participants from colleges and high schools in Minnesota, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Colorado, South Dakota and Nebraska.

Greater Understanding

Robert Scott, NU financial aids adviser and conference coordinator, said the meeting was called to "facilitate a greater understanding of student financial aid programs and problems associated with financial aid for the college student.

"We are trying to make known the present programs and those we might see in the future for aiding college-bound students," he explained.

Brown, discussing problems involved in the identification of qualified youth of exceptional financial need, told the group that "in most cases up to 90% of those students who apply and do not receive aid enroll immediately in college."

One-half of those who do not enroll immediately do so after a lapse of time, he said.

Disinterest in school, lack of motivation for higher education and academic trouble were found to be the primary reasons for most college dropouts rather than a lack of financial aid as many indicated, Brown pointed out.

Costs To Double?

W. A. Brandenberg, president of Wayne State College, opened the conference with a prediction that educational costs will more than double in the next 10 years. He said his prediction is based on having worked with state legislatures.

Educators need to identify and guide the talented, needy student in high school and to let him see college as something desirable and within his reach, Brandenberg said.

However, he had some warnings of possible pitfalls from heavy emphasis on college attendance. Those he cited included a sense of urgency bordering on the hysterical about getting into college, complete and lasting defeat by those who flunk out of college, and a belief among those assisted that problems will always be solved by a beneficent government.

Edward J. Hirsch, vice president of the NU Foundation, declared that if "we wish incentive programs — those to recognize students for their scholarship and to encourage the highest level of performance regardless of financial needs—then we must turn to private support."

Poverty Oriented

Most, if not all, of the federal programs in financial aids are poverty oriented, he said.

"I feel that it would be a serious loss to education if people in industry should in any way reduce their programs because they feel that the federal programs are filling these needs.

"Too many of the federal programs require matching funds and the college's share must come primarily from only once source—private support," Hirsch said.

Joseph Wettstein, assistant to the regional representative in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, outlined new federal financial aid programs, and Thomas L. Burch of New York City, officer for the United Student Aid Funds, explained private loan endorsement institutions in college financial aid.

Man Held In Beating Of Disabled Vet

By DICK BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

A Lincoln man was booked Tuesday on an open charge and held in connection with the March 17 early-morning beating of a disabled war veteran, according to Lincoln police.

Another young man is being sought in connection with the incident in which George McLaird, 805 So. 18th, was kicked unconscious by two persons while a third person looked on from a landing several steps down, police said.

The whereabouts of the third person is known "but in the process of the investigation, it was learned that he did not participate" in the assault, police Capt. Robert Butcher said.

The apprehension of the man and the issuance of a warrant for the arrest of the second person climaxed an intense around-the-clock police investigation which has been under way since the assault occurred.

The attack occurred shortly before 2 a.m. when Mrs. McLaird answered a knock at her apartment door. She was confronted by two persons who inquired about the girls who lived across the hall, according to police records.

When Mrs. McLaird told them that boys occupied the apartment across the hall, one of the two who had knocked at her door began using foul language and slapped her, she told police.

In the ensuing minutes, McLaird was called from the bedroom by his wife, was attacked and kicked unconscious.

Mrs. McLaird's cries for help during the incident, although heard by other residents in the apartment house, went unanswered, according to police.

The suspect was picked up about 2 p.m. Tuesday. He gave police a signed statement, according to Butcher.

Parents Hear Teen-Agers Discuss Parents, Teen-Agers

About 75 parents of Lincoln High School students heard five Lincoln High students expound on life, parents and teen-agers at the LHS auditorium Tuesday night.

The students were members of the Student Council while the parents were members of the LHS Parents Group.

Cathy Cleveland, who generated the greatest number of questions from her adult audience, gave parents the teen-age view on dating, teen-age punishment and what makes "a teen-ager grow up."

One Night Out

"A teen-ager needs at least one night out every week," the petite teen-ager said.

As for week night dating, Miss Cleveland felt it adversely affects studies. But, she said, "going to the library in mid-week to study is not dating."

She said that "riding around for a few hours on Saturday or Sunday afternoon is not dating either."

Midnight was the magic hour Miss Cleveland thought teen-agers should be home. But this hour, she explained, should definitely not be a hard and fast rule.

Time Range

"A teen-ager should not have to fight the clock and sacrifice having a good time," she said. She suggested that parents establish a time range —such as between midnight and 12:30 a.m.—instead of an absolute deadline.

Punishment, Miss Cleveland said, should not be "unrealistically harsh, or it will lose its value. "Grounding a teen-ager for several weeks at a time is no good," she said. Her solution: "Let the punishment fit the crime."

"Teen-agers will act just as grown up as you let them," Miss Cleveland concluded.

"That's what I'm afraid of," one parent said later.

Five Types

Chris Schwartzkopf told the parents that there are at least five types of activities in which teen-agers should be engaged. They are "extracurricular, community service activities such as Red Cross, athletic, leisure type activities such as "just loafing," and "last but not least, employment." Miss Schwartzkopf emphasized that it is important that teens "achieve a balance" of these activities in their daily lives.

Mike Leupold would up the informal parent-teen-age discussion by advising parents that teen-agers must be given responsibility.

"The teen-ager will make some mistakes by accepting responsibility," Leupold said, "but he will be learning at the same time."

Exodus Of Youths Great Loss For State–Sorensen

Valentine (UPI)—Lt Gov. Philip C. Sorensen said here Tuesday the exodus of young Nebraskans is a great loss to the state but in some ways it is an even greater loss to the young people themselves.

Sorensen, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, spoke at a careers day program. His topic was "Opportunities in Nebraska for Nebraska's Young People."

He said, "Nebraska has a long history of leadership in the midwest and in the nation. The young people who leave Nebraska lose their opportunity to be a part of what, with their help, can be years of prosperity, adventure, and self-fulfillment as they work to restore the state to its historic place of leadership."

Credit Terms to Fit Your Budget . . . ALWAYS

POSTCARD by Stan Kellogg

Spring fever being upon me (hey-ho, the merry-o!) we've been looking at real estate. Female birds and female women have a strong nesting urge in spring.

"The lot I'm going to show you is a beauty," said the Real Estate Man. "It has a view of the water and a view of the hills. It is fairly flat—which saves you the cost of grading it."

He hummed a little song as we rode through the green countryside. I didn't catch the words but it was something about "a new Cadillac."

☆ ☆ ☆

"They only last a month, Real Estate Man," I said. "And in summer all these green hills turn brown."

"But we have it now," he said. "Look on the bright side. Ah, here we are."

"Probably gets a lot of wind," I said.

The Real Estate Man looked at me sadly. "A zephyr or so," he said. "A sleepy rustle in the leaves."

"How much for this piece of the great outdoors?" I asked.

"The price is ridiculous," he said. "Almost nothing for this—which may be snapped up tomorrow by some early bird. The question really is can you afford not to have it.

"How much?" I asked.

The Real Estate Man mentioned the figure. True, it was ridiculous. True, the land must have been pure gold.

Ah, the width between desire and bank account. My Banker has a complete record of my financial temperatures. Up and down.

It shows my triumphs and my understandable human weaknesses.

"The problem," I told the Real Estate Man, "is my Banker doesn't care for weaknesses. Maybe not even humans.

"My Banker likes a human who has a sockful of money already. I am too human, that is my major weakness."

"This land," said the Real estate Man, "would make a banker green with envy.

"Perhaps he won't lend you the full amount on it now. I say now. But in five years, he will be trying to stuff money in your pocket for home improvements.

"In five years, he will grind his teeth that he cannot foreclose on such property."

"But what do I do at the moment, Real Estate Man?"

"Ah," he said, "we have looked into your finances and credit and so forth. And I think with a little juggling of things—say dipping into the nest egg?—we might make an omelette."

"Not the nest egg!" I said. "Not the foxy pocket."

The Real Estate Man sighed. (New Cadillacs don't come easy.)

He said: "Consider the children."

"I have," I said. "I don't want them to starve."

"There are worse things than a shortage of bread," he said. "What about their little spirits?"

"Have you considered how they would expand in this glorious atmosphere," he asked. "Their little cheeks filled with new roses. Their little hearts happy."

☆ ☆ ☆

"I'm sorry," I said. "But it's too much money. I must be conservative. I must—."

At this point, the nesting wren spoke up.

"We'll take it," she said. "Now let's see. The living room should be over here and the dining room there."

IT'S EASTERTIME AT GOLD'S

POSTCARD by Stan Kimpland

Spring fever being upon me (hey-ho, the merry-o!) we've been looking at real estate. Female birds and female women have a strong nesting urge in spring.

"The lot I'm going to show you is a beauty," said the Real Estate Man. "It has a view of the water and a view of the hills. It is fairly flat—which saves you the cost of grading it."

He hummed a little song as we rode through the green countryside. I didn't catch the words but it was something about "a new Cadillac."

☆ ☆ ☆

He drove up a winding road. "Beautiful!" he said.

"Look at the golden poppies. A natural garden."

"They only last a month, Real Estate Man," I said. "And in summer all these green hills turn brown."

"But we have it now," he said. "Look on the bright side. Ah, here we are."

"Probably gets a lot of wind," I said.

The Real Estate Man looked at me sadly. "A zephyr or so," he said. "A sleepy rustle in the leaves."

"How much for this piece of the great outdoors?" I asked.

"The price is ridiculous," he said. "Almost nothing for this—which may be snapped up tomorrow by some early bird. The question really is can you afford not to have it.

"How much?" I asked.

The Real Estate Man mentioned the figure. True, it was ridiculous. True, the land must have been pure gold.

Ah, the width between desire and bank account. My Banker has a complete record of my financial temperatures. Up and down.

It shows my triumphs and my understandable human weaknesses.

"The problem," I told the Real Estate Man, "is my Banker doesn't care for weaknesses. Maybe not even humans.

"My Banker likes a human who has a sockful of money already. I am too human, that is my major weakness."

"This land," said the Real estate Man, "would make a banker green with envy.

"Perhaps he won't lend you the full amount on it now. I say now. But in five years, he will be trying to stuff money in your pocket for home improvements.

"In five years, he will grind his teeth that he cannot foreclose on such property."

Request To Open Holdrege Loan Office Rapped

The application of American Loan Plan Inc. of Hastings to establish a loan office in Holdrege came under fire at a hearing before State Banking Director Byron Dunn Tuesday.

Charles A. Gabus, president of Consolidated Loan and Finance Co., Inc., of Holdrege, said establishment of another loan office in Holdrege would result in "run-away credit" in the south central Nebraska town.

He claimed American Loan Plan would drive the smaller Holdrege credit agencies out of business.

"They're big and we're small," Gabus said. "They would come in with the idea of operating without a profit for two or three years and kill the rest of us off."

Lawrence M. Chapman of Omaha, executive vice president of American Loan Plan, said, "We already have a substantial business in the Holdrege area which is carried by our Grand Island, Hastings and Kearney offices, and a Holdrege office would certainly permit us to better serve our patrons in that community."

He said the Home Loan Corp. of Grand Island would surrender its inactive Holdrege loan license if Dunn approves the American Loan Plan application.

Dunn took the matter under advisement.

Protestants to the application included Bee Printing Co., First National Bank, First Security Bank, Holdrege Loan and Investment Co., Strong Bros., Inc., and Elston Drug Co., all of Holdrege.

In addition, a petition bearing signatures of 124 Holdrege residents objecting to the application was presented to Dunn.

NU Professor Eyes Airports

Both the charm and the neglect of airport architecture in the United States was brought to the attention of the flying public this week by the sketches of a University of Nebraska professor.

The sketches appear in the April issue of "Flying" magazine and were executed by Dale Gibbs, professor of architecture.

During the past several years Professor Gibbs, with the magazine's managing editor, has gathered information about the nation's air terminals—from ramshackle sheds to the magnificant international airports of coastal cities.

Professor Gibbs concludes that while many historic, colorful structures dating to the time of barnstroming still stand, they are rapidly falling apart and the flying public ought to do something about it.

Commenting on the many rarely used, weather beaten lean-to sheds capped with windsocks, Professor Gibbs explained "these structures reflect or evoke the spirit of flying in the beginning, the canvas and bailing wire era of Lindbergh, Post and Earhart, of barnstormers' mail flights and World War I."

Reports Of Union Vandalism Checked

By United Press International

York County authorities said Tuesday they are investigating reports of vandalism and union pressure on Interstate construction sites in eastern Nebraska.

County Atty. Carl Kopines said several incidents have come to his attention in recent weeks.

"We are trying to get to the bottom of this. We don't know who is involved and what, if any, the purpose is at this atage," he said.

Sheriff Louis Ekart said vandalism definitely is involved. He said one case occurred at the so-called Lushton gravel pit near York. Gravel was dumped into gas tanks of some heavy construction equipment.

"I will make a full report on the matter to the county attorney as soon as the investigation is completed," he said.

The State Safety Patrol was briefed over the weekend. But a spokesman said there are no present plans for that office to enter the case.

"We are following normal patroling procedures in the area," the spokesman said.

However, in Lincoln, James Hewitt, attorney for the Abel Construction Co., announced 12 professional guards have been hired to watch work sites in York and Hamilton Counties. They are on 24-hour alert and will report any wrong-doing to law authorities.

He said the guards were employed to protect equipment in the two counties.

Hewitt said labor union organizers have been present at the construction locations in unusually heavy numbers. He said this was probably due to the fact that Interstate work will move out of the Omaha-Lincoln area this year.

Most labor unions are based in either Omaha or Lincoln.

Hewitt said two Abel employes were "coerced into signing authorization cards by union people on the threat of physical violence," and that union organizers have been disrupting work schedules.

He said the Teamsters, operating engineers, laborers, carpenters, and cement finishers unions from Omaha are heading the effort to recruit union members.

Schmidt Says He Could Do A Better Job

Republican congressional candidate Loran Schmit of David City Tuesday told a group of Lincoln Republican women that he would not ask their support "on the excuse that there are already too many Democrats in Congress, valid as that may be."

Instead, he said, he is running on the basis that he can do a better job in Congress than the First District incumbent, Democratic Rep. Clair Callan.

"If I can't convince you of that," he said, "then I don't deserve to be elected to the House."

Schmit noted that the Johnson administration gave the original order to close the Lincoln Veterans Administration Hospital, later rescinded, and is closing the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Schmit reminded the women of Callan's vote for the planned new vice presidential residence, suggesting that "if the Johnson administration really needs a vote, they have it in Clair Callan."

York County authorities said Tuesday they are investigating reports of vandalism and union pressure on Interstate construction sites in eastern Nebraska.

County Atty. Carl Kopines said several incidents have come to his attention in recent weeks.

"We are trying to get to the bottom of this. We don't know who is involved and what, if any, the purpose is at this atage," he said.

Sheriff Louis Ekart said vandalism definitely is involved. He said one case occurred at the so-called Lushton gravel pit near York. Gravel was dumped into gas tanks of some heavy construction equipment.

"I will make a full report on the matter to the county attorney as soon as the investigation is completed," he said.

The State Safety Patrol was briefed over the weekend. But a spokesman said there are no present plans for that office to enter the case.

"We are following normal patroling procedures in the area," the spokesman said.

However, in Lincoln, James Hewitt, attorney for the Abel Construction Co., announced 12 professional guards have been hired to watch work sites in York and Hamilton Counties. They are on 24-hour alert and will report any wrong-doing to law authorities.

He said the guards were employed to protect equipment in the two counties.

Hewitt said labor union organizers have been present at the construction locations in unusually heavy numbers. He said this was probably due to the fact that Interstate work will move out of the Omaha-Lincoln area this year.

Most labor unions are based in either Omaha or Lincoln.

Hewitt said two Abel employes were "coerced into signing authorization cards by union people on the threat of physical violence," and that union organizers have been disrupting work schedules.

He said the Teamsters, operating engineers, laborers, carpenters, and cement finishers unions from Omaha are heading the effort to recruit union members.

Schmidt Says He Could Do A Better Job

Republican congressional candidate Loran Schmit of David City Tuesday told a group of Lincoln Republican women that he would not ask their support "on the excuse that there are already too many Democrats in Congress, valid as that may be."

Instead, he said, he is running on the basis that he can do a better job in Congress than the First District incumbent, Democratic Rep. Clair Callan.

"If I can't convince you of that," he said, "then I don't deserve to be elected to the House."

Schmit noted that the Johnson administration gave the original order to close the Lincoln Veterans Administration Hospital, later rescinded, and is closing the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Schmit reminded the women of Callan's vote for the planned new vice presidential residence, suggesting that "if the Johnson administration really needs a vote, they have it in Clair Callan."

Spalding Public, Catholic Schools Experiment On Student Exchange

The Nebraska Education Department is studying a unique plan to improve the quality of education in small towns, a department official announced Tuesday.

The pilot community is Spalding in Greeley County, according to Melvin Olson, director of supervisory services.

Involved are the Spalding Public School and the Spalding Catholic Academy. They exchange students for certain classes.

If the plan works out, it may be expanded to other communities with similar public-parochial school systems.

"Right now this is strictly an experimental project. We don't know whether it is workable or not," Olson said. "The state school accreditation committee will probably review the program in June, then make more definite recommendations."

The accreditation committee last summer gave conditional endorsement to the project on a study basis. It feared that some classes might not be compatible with the exchange format.

According to Olson, the schools exchange students only for so-called "enrichment" classes, not basic education. No religion is taught in any of the classes.

"For example," Olson said, "one school might have an industrial arts program, while the other has none. This type of course would then be open to students from both schools."

Olson said the plan is only good in a community where both schools are practically on the same campus. He said students are not transported to the classes.

"The state committee had some reservations last June since this is a tender area," he said. "We are not ready yet to declare it a success, or to recommend it for other parts of the state."

The town of Greeley had proposed a similar project, but later dropped the plan, Olson said. Some towns now allow parochial school students to attend classes at public schools, but there is no reverse exchange.

The plan was initially proposed by the Rev. Paul J. Button, superintendent of the Grand Island Roman Catholic Schools. He said it was one way to expand the overall educational program available to students in small towns.

Population Study Urged Before Schools Consolidate

Legislative Speaker Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud urged rural Nebraska school districts Tuesday to carefully study their pupil populations before consolidating with neighboring districts and embarking on ambitious construction programs.

He said the population shift from rural to urban areas, the increasing percentage of aged Nebraskans and intensified use of birth control methods are reducing the number of school-age children living on farms and in small towns in the state.

He said some school districts may undertake expensive construction programs to establish comprehensive educational systems only to find a dearth of pupils once the new facilities are ready for use.

"Most school districts consider property valuation as the prime criteria for consolidation," Sen. Bowen said. "They look to $10 or $15 million as an adequate basis for establishing a system including kindergarten through the 12th grade.

"More attention should be given to the actual population trends in the districts before tax dollars are spent on new facilities."

The four-term lawmaker, a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, noted the Red Cloud school district now has a kindergarten enrollment of 44 but only 14 children living in the district are one year old.

He said every school district located in a rural area or small town should hire a consulting firm to make comprehensive studies of future district populations.

Exon Says GOP Meet Filled With Frustrated Fear

Democratic State Vice Chairman J. J. Exon of Lincoln Tuesday characterized the Republican Founders Day meeting in Lincoln Saturday as a day "filled with the oratory of frustrated fear."

In a statement, Exon said he was shocked by news reports that Republican leaders had considered the possible expulsion of Republicans who defect and support Democratic candidates.

Exon said he had worked with "many outstanding members of the Republican Party" in recent years in connection with campaigns for President Johnson, Gov. Frank Morrison and Rep. Clair Callan.

"The Nebraska Democratic Party demands no autocratic or automatic following of anything or anybody and welcomes the support of Republicans who are unafraid of the 'hanging bee' planned for them by the GOP bosses."

"It becomes more evident from their every word and deed that the present Goldwater oriented leadership of the Republican Party is in near panic over their continued failure to be successful in the automatic delivery of Nebraska, lock, stock and barrel, to the GOP column."

NEWS
of the suburban areas

The warm breezes which occasionally have been touching Lincoln the past weeks have blown some very interesting visitors into town. One such Eastern breeze accompanied the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Radha Alwa.

Their guests, until Thursday, are Dr. and Mrs. K. C. Naik of Bangalore, India and B. N. Punja of Kenton, England. Dr. Naik, the vice chancellor of the University of Agricultural Sciences, Mysore State, Bangalore, is touring the United States sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. Alwa will entertain at dinner at their home in honor of their visitors. Invited guests are Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stevens, the Alwa's host family while they are in Lincoln, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert O'Keefe. Dr. O'Keefe is a professor of horticulture at the University of Nebraska and Mr. Alwa's faculty advisor.

Mr. Alwa and his wife, who are from Madras, India, are in Lincoln while Mr. Alwa studies for his doctorate in horticulture.

COTNER TERRACE

Returning April 2 to visit in Lincoln after an absence of three years are Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Becker and their daughter, Shelley, of Rochester, N.Y. Arriving on Saturday, the Beckers will be the house guests of Mrs. Becker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sinnett, until after the holiday weekend. While in the city the visitors will also be entertained by Mr. Becker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Becker, and Mr. Becker's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Becker and their daughters, Pam and Janette.

Speaking of reunions — the Rev. and Mrs. Edgar K. Harris entertained the Rev. Harris's former school roommate, the Rev. Leonard Wymore of Cleveland, Ohio, during a day-long stop in Lincoln on Monday. The two were roommates and fellow classmates for three years at the Manhattan Bible College, Manhattan, Kan.

Coming from Alliance last Sunday to visit in Lincoln until mid-week were Mr. and Mrs. Mark McCormick who were the house guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Robert O'Keefe. The visiting twosome left Tuesday morning to spend some time in Grand Island.

Sharing her birthdate with six of her feminine friends Monday afternoon was Miss Shari Jo Karr, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Karr. First grade classmates attending the celebration were Shelly Morgaridge, Carol Arnold, Karen Karr, Judy Burbach, Lynne Scharton and Linda Johnson.

On Sunday evening Shari got her first taste of celebrating when her parents entertained in honor of her anniversary. Guests included Shari's grandparents, Mrs. Mae Karr of Seward, and Mr. and Mrs. William Schultz of Pleasant Dale; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Schultz of Seward; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Obermuller and Miss Anna Dankers.

TALK
of the town

They're speaking of spring in a whisper these days—just in case there might be a repeat of winter's performance of last week.

But officially, and for all practical purposes spring is here, and in town for her spring holiday from college is Miss Jan Williams. Miss Williams, who arrived last Saturday to spend 10 days with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Jon T. Williams, is a student at Gulf Park College, Gulfport, Miss.

• • •

The approach of April, of course, always means that we should turn the spotlight on some of the Easter season brides.

One of these, as we mentioned yesterday, is Miss Sarah Jo Davie whose marriage to Rex Swett will take place on Tuesday, April 12.

Our Tuesday chatter concerning Miss Davie involved the members of the bridal entourage, but this morning we have news of numerous courtesies.

On Saturday Miss Davie will be complimented when Mrs. Richard Schmidt, Mrs. Harold Augustin and Mrs. William Dean of Omaha, are luncheon hostesses at the Black Coach. The guest list of 19 will include sorority sisters in Chi Omega, of both the bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. Fred Davie. Following the luncheon Miss Davie will be presented with a one-gift shower.

• • •

Next week's courtesy ball starts rolling on Tuesday evening when Chi Omega sisters, Miss Jan Pitsch and Miss Mary Swanson entertain at a dessert supper and a grocery and kitchen utensil shower at their apartment.

• • •

Then comes Wednesday and the buffet supper for which Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kosman will be host and hostess when they pay prenuptial courtesy to Miss Davie and her fiance. The guest list will include members of the family and the bridal party.

Courtesies

Spring bride-elect, Miss Joan Ideen, will be the honored guest on Wednesday evening, April 13, when her fiance's aunts, Mrs. Ivan Larsen and Mrs. Leo Larsen, will be hostesses at a prenuptial courtesy in Minden.

Miss Ideen, who will become the bride of Clair Larsen on Sunday, April 17, also was honored at a family party last Saturday afternoon held at the home of Mrs. Don Weller. Mrs. Fred Bontz of Ashland, and Mrs. Joe Weller were co-hostesses for the one-gift shower.

Stop Winter Wrinkles

Use the colder months to give your skin a lovely peaches-and-cream appearance, but guard against wrinkles caused by the cold air. Even mildly crisp air causes the skin to contract, preventing protective oils from reaching the surface. Ask your druggist for oil of Olay, and before you make-up, smooth it over your face, neck and hands, being careful to pat it generously round the eyes. You will be amazed how quickly this beautifying moist oil will give the skin a healthy bloom even on winter days.

ABBY

he doesn't seem to love his neighbor as himself

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a landlord who turns down the heat every time he leaves the premises and does not turn it up again until he returns? Meanwhile the tenants are freezing, whether it's a few hours or the whole day. We understand he goes to church every Sunday.

C.M.W.

DEAR C. M. W.: Going to church won't save him. The man who doesn't love his neighbor as he loves himself can expect to get considerably more heat than he finds comfortable in the hereafter.

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old daughter came to me with tears in her eyes and said, "Mother, I called Suzette and asked her to go to the show with me, and she said she was sorry but her mother said she couldn't be seen with me any more because my mother and daddy are getting a divorce."

I am so hurt and heartbroken I would like to call this woman up and tell her what I think of her. Would you, if you were me?

HURT

DEAR HURT: No. The woman is obviously ignorant. Pity her daughter. I hope she enjoys solitude because if she must limit her friends to those with no divorce in the family, she'll be spending a lot of time alone.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: Shame on that mother who told her daughter she never again wanted to hear her say, "I can't afford it." What is a person supposed to say when he is shown something he can't afford? One of the most refreshing qualities found in our teen-agers today is their forthright candor. The affectation of pretending to have more than they have, and to know more than they know, they acquire from adults.

FOR TEENS

DEAR ABBY: Hats off to that teen-ager who wasn't ashamed to say, "I can't afford it" when it was suggested she buy something that was beyond her means. I work in a store which carries very expensive merchandise as well as moderately-priced clothes, and you'd be amazed at some of the excuses people make for not buying because they won't admit they can't afford it. ("I don't like the color." "It doesn't fit." "I have one at home exactly like it.") They could save themselves (and me) a lot of time if they took a lesson from the teen-ager who simply said, "I can't afford it."

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
3 ♣	3 ♥	3 ♠	3 NT

The bidding:

Opening lead — five of spades.

This hand was played in the finals of the open pair championship in a regional tournament.

At one table, where the bidding went as shown (believe it or not), South became declarer at three notrump. West's three club bid is hard to explain: apparently he felt compelled to preempt against his vulnerable opponents but could not quite bring himself to open with three hearts on such a weak suit.

West led a spade, which East took with the ace. East saw no future in returning a spade, a heart or a club, so he decided to shift to a diamond. Unfortunately, he led the ten, and this innocent looking play proved to be terribly expensive when declarer was now able to produce six diamond tricks by going up with the king and forcing out the A-9. South made four notrump.

There must have been something about the hand to excite the players because, at a different table, the bidding followed this peculiar course:

West	North	East	South
Pass	2 ♦	2 ♠	2 NT
Pass	3 ♣	3 ♦	Dble
Pass	Pass	Pass

Two diamonds, as played by this North-South pair, was a conventional bid showing four spades, five hearts and four cards in the minors. Two notrump was also conventional, asking for clarification of the distribution of North's holdings in the minor suits. Three clubs guaranteed either three or four clubs.

Realizing that North had at most one diamond, and unwilling to be intimidated by the artificial bids being employed by his opponents, East elected to bid three diamonds.

South was firmly of the opinion that this contract could not be made, and he doubled. West showed his preference for diamonds by passing with his better singleton, and three diamonds doubled became the contract. The unfortunate 8-0 trump break was more than East could cope with, and he wound up going down five.

There must have been something about the hand to excite the players because, at a different table, the bidding followed this peculiar course:

West	North	East	South
Pass	2 ♦	2 ♠	2 NT
Pass	3 ♣	3 ♦	Dble
Pass	Pass	Pass

Two diamonds, as played by this North-South pair, was a conventional bid showing four spades, five hearts and four cards in the minors. Two notrump was also conventional, asking for clarification of the distribution of North's holdings in the minor suits. Three clubs guaranteed either three or four clubs.

Realizing that North had at most one diamond, and unwilling to be intimidated by the artificial bids being employed by his opponents, East elected to bid three diamonds.

South was firmly of the opinion that this contract could not be made, and he doubled. West showed his preference for diamonds by passing with his better singleton, and three diamonds doubled became the contract. The unfortunate 8-0 trump break was more than East could cope with, and he wound up going down five.

SPORT SIGNALS

By Hal Brown

Sports Editor, The Star

Huskers Moving Up

Coach Joe Cipriano's Nebraska basketball team stands at the top of the class for improvement on the NU sports scene, but don't overlook Frank Sevigne, Dick Klaas or Orval Borgialli in the improvement area.

Sevigne's indoor thinclads, Klaas' swimmers and Borgialli's wrestlers all moved up a notch in their respective sports in the conference's championship meets.

And you can't overlook the "paunchy Irishman" on the improvement scale either. There was no place to go for Bob Devaney's NU gridders from their No. 1 spot in the conference, so they simply went 10-0 to keep pace on the improvement derby that has hit the NU athletic campus.

Two Sports Fall

Only in cross country, where the Huskers dropped from fifth in 1964 to seventh in 1965, and in gymnastics, where they fell from third to fourth, have NU athletic teams failed to maintain or improve their conference standings.

The improvements in basketball, swimming, wrestling and indoor track have put Nebraska into a challenging position for the Big Eight all-sports title as the four spring sports get under way.

With seven sports completed, Kansas leads with 39½ points, scoring on an 8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis, with Nebraska only one-half point in arrears. The two leaders are followed by Oklahoma 35, Iowa State 33, Kansas State 30, Colorado 29½, Oklahoma State 24 and Missouri 19.

Five In First Division

Nebraska and Kansas also top the league in first division finishes with each having five of their athletic outfits in the top four. Only Kansas, with two, has more than one championship.

The finishes in the seven sports completed:

FOOTBALL — 1. Nebraska, 2. Missouri, 3. Colorado, 4. Iowa State, 5. Oklahoma, 6. (tie) Oklahoma State and Kansas, 8. Kansas State.
BASKETBALL — 1. Kansas, 2. Nebraska, 3. Kansas State, 4. Oklahoma, 5. (tie) Colorado and Iowa State, 7. Oklahoma State, 8. Missouri.
INDOOR TRACK — 1. Kansas, 2. Nebraska, 3. Oklahoma, 4. Kansas State, 5. Missouri, 6. (tie) Oklahoma State and Iowa State, 8. Colorado.
CROSS COUNTRY — 1. Kansas State, 2. Kansas, 3. Oklahoma State, 4. Colorado, 5 Missouri 6. Iowa State, 7. Nebraska, 8. Oklahoma.
GYMNASTICS — 1 Iowa State, 2. Colorado, 3. Kansas, 4. Nebraska, 5. Oklahoma, 6. Kansas State. Oklahoma State and Missouri do not compete.
SWIMMING — 1 Oklahoma, 2. Kansas, 3. Nebraska, 4. Iowa State, 5. Kansas State, 6 Oklahoma State, 7. Colorado, 8 Missouri.
WRESTLING — 1. Oklahoma State, 2. Oklahoma, 3 Iowa State, 4. Colorado 5 Nebraska, 6. Kansas State, 7. Missouri, 8. Kansas

Missouri shows the worst sports record in the league with only one first division finisher—Dan Devine's football squad which finished second to the Huskers—and no champion thus far. Colorado is the only other school without a champion, but the Buffs have placed four teams in the first division.

The Tigers also are the only school with two last place finishes, landing in the cellar in both basketball and swimming.

What's Ahead

Looking ahead, Nebraska's best bet for a championship this spring is in baseball where coach Tony Sharpe's diamond crew should battle Missouri for the top prize.

While not title favorites, Nebraska also should improve on its fifth place finish of a year ago in outdoor track and could move up from the sixth place golf finish.

Kansas, meanwhile, is a strong favorite to repeat as outdoor track king and also is a cinch to pick up points over the Huskers in tennis where the Jayhawks are defending champions.

Chuvalo Forces Clay To Go Distance

. . . CANADIAN'S FACE TAKES BRUTAL BEATING IN TITLE BOUT

The much-ridicuied bout turned into a virtual war as the granite-like Indomitable Candian challenger waded through a fusillade of stabbing lefts and rights to get at the champhion.

Referee Jackie Silvers, who was criticized throughout the bout by Clay's handlers for letting Chuvalo land foul blows, scored it 73-65 for Clay. Judge Tony Conzano had it 74-63 for Clay and judge Jack Johnson scored it 74-62 for the champion.

It was the first time in Clay's unbeaten career of 23 bouts that he went more than 12 rounds and it was the first heavyweight title bout to go 15 rounds since Rocky Marciano decisioned Ezzard Charles in 1954.

There were no knockdowns but Clay staggered Chuvalo at least a dozen times during the bout. Chuvalo, who concentrated mostly on the body during the early stages of the bout surprised Clay in the 15th with a looping left hook that almost floored the champion.

Clay, weighing the most of his career at 214 pounds, had too much speed for the 216-pound challenger, who never has been knocked off his feet.

The 28-year-old Chuvalo from Toronto showed from the start that he would live up to his promise to carry the fight to Clay. He waded into the taller Clay at the opening bell and fired jolting rights to the body.

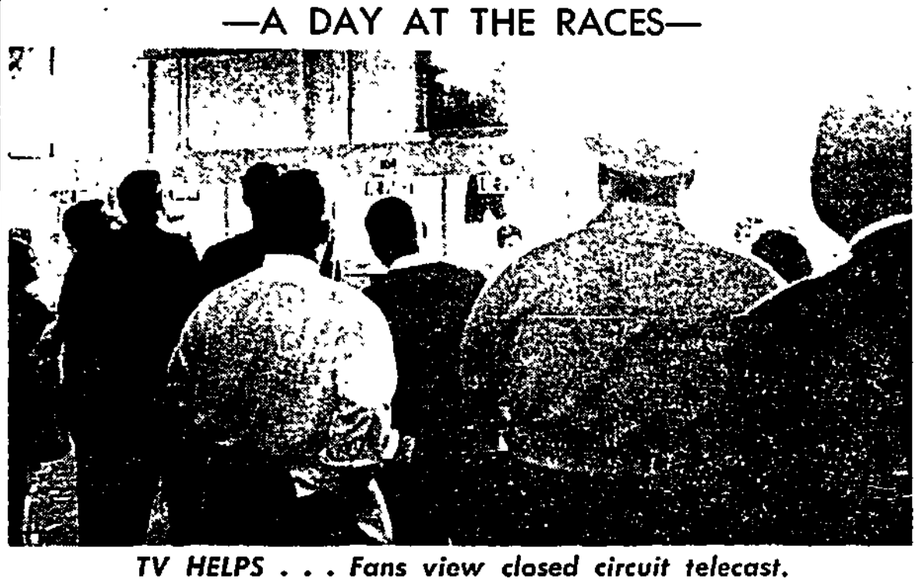
LONGSHOTS WIN AT GI

—A DAY AT THE RACES—



TV HELPS . . . Fans view closed circuit telecast.

ON FAR TURN . . . Fan strains to see his horse.

Fonner Starts Racing Season

. . . C. V. McBRIDE WINS

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Grand Island—Longshots evidently thought the opening day of Nebraska's racing season at Fonner Park Tuesday was a chance to get a new start as the unfavored mounts defied the odds and winning payoffs soared.

The longshot onslaught began immediately as Dark Dorrine (No. 2), a 6½-1 shot, and Bobbie M. (No. 3), at 9-1 odds, combined in the first and second races, respectively, to pay a daily double of $201.60.

Dark Dorrine pulled into the lead in the first turn, was challenged by show horse Miss Emarjay at the far turn, but pulled away at the wire in a driving finish to win by one-half length.

Entries, Results, Page 18

Dark Dorrine paid $15.00, $5.60, and $5.80 to win the first while Bobbie M. returned $23.00, $10.60, and $6.60 in its victory.

The fourth race produced the largest single payoff of the day as Belle Martin, a 20-1 longshot, came from far back in the pack at the far turn and put on a tremendous drive in the stretch to nip C. A. Gem by a nose at the wire in a photo finish.

C. A. Gem took the lead in the backstretch but couldn't hold off the winner's furious pace at the wire.

Belle Martin paid $42.80, $18.80 and $7.00 for the victory, while C. A. Gem returned $10.20 and $6.20 for placing. Show horse Gray Snapper paid $5.00.

After the first half of the two-division Inaugural Handicap, it looked like longshots might sweep almost every race.

Satan's Fire paid $22.00, $7.40, and $4.80 for the win; Astaconda returned $4.60 and $3.40; and Dream Trip was $4.40 to show.

C. V. McBride, who went off as a 4-5 favorite, saved some face for the favorites by winning the eighth race—the second half of the Inaugural Handicap.

The winner, however, kept the crowd in anxiety as it broke from the gate last and didn't make a strong bid until the backstretch. When C. V. McBride did make a bid, it was highly impressive as the winner took the lead in the far turn and finished one and one-fourth lengths ahead of early leader and second choice Prince Kem.

C. V. McBride returned $3.60, $2.40 and $2.20 for the win.

Only two other favorites in the nine races won. They were Light Message in the sixth and Auctioneer in the last race.

One horse was claimed in opening-day competition. Blue Impala, formerly owned by Sarpy Farms of Bellevue, was claimed before the third race by Clyde Mawhinney of Ravenna for $1500.

Tuesday's attendance was 5404, compared with last year's attendance on the same date of 4654. The mutuel handle was $238,053.

Last year's first day was an eight-race affair; therefore the two totals are not comparable. However, through eight races Tuesday, this year's handle was up $22,410.

Dodger Duo Turns Down Final Offer

Los Angeles (AP) — Los Angeles Dodgers General Manager E. J. Bavasi flew into town Tuesday to try to sign holdout pitchers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale and said he got a turndown on the club's "final" offer of $210,000 for the two.

Bavasi said he originally offered Koufax $100,000, and he upped it to $112,500 in a meeting Tuesday afternoon with attorney Bill Hayes, representing the pair. He said the original Drysdale offer of $85,000 was increased to $97,500.

After the turndown, Bavasi said, he telephoned Dodgers owner Walter O'Malley at Vero Beach, Fla., and the two agreed that the $210,000 figure was as high as the club would go.

He said Hayes told him the offer was rejected "simply as a matter of economics—not enough money."

Tom Bassett, a junior transfer from Hastings, set one sprint record and tied another Tuesday as Nebraska Wesleyan opened its outdoor track season with a dual against South Dakota University.

Bassett's effort, however, was not enough to equal the Coyotes as Wesleyan came out on the short end of an 89-61 score, South Dakota winning seven of the 11 running events, and five of seven in the field.

Bassett hit :20.9 in the 220-yard dash, breaking the old Wesleyan mark of :21.6, set in 1961 by Charles Trautman. He crossed the tape in the 100 in :09.7, equalling a 1932 standard established by Bob Gibb.

He was the only double winner in the meet held at O.N. Magee Stadium.

The only other record-breaking performance was turned in by miler Jim Comstock who placed third in the event behind a pair of South Dakota runners, but still bettered the school record with a 4:23.2 clocking. The old mark was set by teammate Steve Bell last year at 4:26.8.

Bassett also ran the anchor leg in the first heat of the mile relay, closing the gap considerably before losing by a nose. The second heat, however, provided the Plainsmen with the winning time in the event, Wendell Wilson striding across the finish line for a 3:27.8 clocking.

Dave Newlon and Bill Nasi kept the Coyotes from a sweep in the field events, Newlon heaving the javelin 185-5, and Nasi leaping 21-3¼ in the broad jump, two inches more than South Dakota's Jerry Danburg.

Ken Munsinger was the only other Wesleyan winner. His :15.6 showing in the 120-yard high hurdles nipped South Dakota's John Huth, who crossed the line only one-tenth of a second behind the winner.

Huth came back to win the 330-yard intermediate hurdles, however, finishing in 40 seconds flat.

Nebraska Wesleyan will host Midland and John F. Kennedy College in a triangular at Magee Stadium Friday at 3 p.m.

Huskers Moving Up

Coach Joe Cipriano's Nebraska basketball team stands at the top of the class for improvement on the NU sports scene, but don't overlook Frank Sevigne, Dick Klaas or Orval Borgialli in the improvement area.

Sevigne's indoor thinclads, Klaas' swimmers and Borgialli's wrestlers all moved up a notch in their respective sports in the conference's championship meets.

And you can't overlook the "paunchy Irishman" on the improvement scale either. There was no place to go for Bob Devaney's NU gridders from their No. 1 spot in the conference, so they simply went 10-0 to keep pace on the improvement derby that has hit the NU athletic campus.

Two Sports Fall

Only in cross country, where the Huskers dropped from fifth in 1964 to seventh in 1965, and in gymnastics, where they fell from third to fourth, have NU athletic teams failed to maintain or improve their conference standings.

The improvements in basketball, swimming, wrestling and indoor track have put Nebraska into a challenging position for the Big Eight all-sports title as the four spring sports get under way.

With seven sports completed, Kansas leads with 39½ points, scoring on an 8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis, with Nebraska only one-half point in arrears. The two leaders are followed by Oklahoma 35, Iowa State 33, Kansas State 30, Colorado 29½, Oklahoma State 24 and Missouri 19.

Five In First Division

Nebraska and Kansas also top the league in first division finishes with each having five of their athletic outfits in the top four. Only Kansas, with two, has more than one championship.

The finishes in the seven sports completed:

FOOTBALL — 1. Nebraska, 2. Missouri, 3. Colorado, 4. Iowa State, 5. Oklahoma, 6. (tie) Oklahoma State and Kansas, 8. Kansas State.
BASKETBALL — 1. Kansas, 2. Nebraska, 3. Kansas State, 4. Oklahoma, 5. (tie) Colorado and Iowa State, 7. Oklahoma State, 8. Missouri.
INDOOR TRACK — 1. Kansas, 2. Nebraska, 3. Oklahoma, 4. Kansas State, 5. Missouri, 6 (tie) Oklahoma State and Iowa State, 8. Colorado.
CROSS COUNTRY — 1. Kansas State, 2. Kansas, 3. Oklahoma State, 4. Colorado, 5. Missouri. 6. Iowa State, 7. Nebraska, 8. Oklahoma.
GYMNASTICS — 1. Iowa State, 2. Colorado, 3. Kansas, 4. Nebraska, 5. Oklahoma, 6. Kansas State. Oklahoma State and Missouri do not compete.
SWIMMING — 1. Oklahoma, 2. Kansas, 3. Nebraska, 4. Iowa State, 5. Kansas State, 6. Oklahoma State, 7. Colorado, 8. Missouri.
WRESTLING — 1. Oklahoma State, 2. Oklahoma, 3. Iowa State, 4. Colorado 5. Nebraska, 6. Kansas State, 7. Missouri, 8. Kansas.

Missouri shows the worst sports record in the league with only one first division finisher—Dan Devine's football squad which finished second to the Huskers—and no champion thus far. Colorado is the only other school without a champion, but the Buffs have placed four teams in the first division.

The Tigers also are the only school with two last place finishes, landing in the cellar in both basketball and swimming.

What's Ahead

Looking ahead, Nebraska's best bet for a championship this spring is in baseball where coach Tony Sharpe's diamond crew should battle Missouri for the top prize.

While not title favorites, Nebraska also should improve on its fifth place finish of a year ago in outdoor track and could move up from the sixth place golf finish.

Kansas, meanwhile, is a strong favorite to repeat as outdoor track king and also is a cinch to pick up points over the Huskers in tennis where the Jayhawks are defending champions.

Chuvalo Forces Clay To Go Distance

. . . CANADIAN'S FACE TAKES BRUTAL BEATING IN TITLE BOUT

The much-ridiculed bout turned into a virtual war as the granite-like indomitable Candian challenger waded through a fusillade of stabbing lefts and rights to get at the champhion.

Referee Jackie Silvers, who was criticized throughout the bout by Clay's handlers for letting Chuvalo land foul blows, scored it 73-65 for Clay. Judge Tony Conzano had it 74-63 for Clay and judge Jack Johnson scored it 74-62 for the champion.

It was the first time in Clay's unbeaten career of 23 bouts that he went more than 12 rounds and it was the first heavyweight title bout to go 15 rounds since Rocky Marciano decisioned Ezzard Charles in 1954.

There were no knockdowns but Clay staggered Chuvalo at least a dozen times during the bout. Chuvalo, who concentrated mostly on the body during the early stages of the bout surprised Clay in the 15th with a looping left hook that almost floored the champion.

Clay, weighing the most of his career at 214 pounds, had too much speed for the 216-pound challenger, who never has been knocked off his feet.

The 28-year-old Chuvalo from Toronto showed from the start that he would live up to his promise to carry the fight to Clay. He waded into the taller Clay at the opening bell and fired jolting rights to the body.

Fonner Starts Racing Season

. . . C. V. McBRIDE WINS

By BARRY BURKHART
Star Sports Writer

Grand Island—Longshots evidently thought the opening day of Nebraska's racing season at Fonner Park Tuesday was a chance to get a new start as the unfavored mounts defied the odds and winning payoffs soared.

The longshot onslaught began immediately as Dark Dorrine (No. 2), a 6½-1 shot, and Bobbie M. (No. 3), at 9-1 odds, combined in the first and second races, respectively, to pay a daily double of $201.60.

Dark Dorrine pulled into the lead in the first turn, was challenged by show horse Miss Emarjay at the far turn, but pulled away at the wire in a driving finish to win by one-half length.

Entries, Results, Page 18

Dark Dorrine paid $15.00, $5.60, and $5.80 to win the first while Bobbie M. returned $23.00, $10.60, and $6.60 in its victory.

The fourth race produced the largest single payoff of the day as Belle Martin, a 20-1 longshot, came from far back in the pack at the far turn and put on a tremendous drive in the stretch to nip C. A. Gem by a nose at the wire in a photo finish.

Belle Martin paid $42.80, $18.80 and $7.00 for the victory, while C. A. Gem returned $10.20 and $6.20 for placing. Show horse Gray Snapper paid $5.00.

Satan's Fire paid $22.00, $7.40, and $4.80 for the win; Astaconda returned $4.60 and $3.40; and Dream Trip was $4.40 to show.

C. V. McBride, who went off as a 4-5 favorite, saved some face for the favorites by winning the eighth race—the second half of the Inaugural Handicap.

The winner, however, kept the crowd in anxiety as it broke from the gate last and didn't make a strong bid until the backstretch. When C. V. McBride did make a bid, it was highly impressive as the winner took the lead in the far turn and finished one and one-fourth lengths ahead of early leader and second choice Prince Kem.

C. V. McBride returned $3.60, $2.40 and $2.20 for the win.

Only two other favorites in the nine races won. They were Light Message in the sixth and Auctioneer in the last race.

One horse was claimed in opening-day competition. Blue Impala, formerly owned by Sarpy Farms of Bellevue, was claimed before the third race by Clyde Mawhinney of Ravenna for $1500.

Tuesday's attendance was 5404, compared with last year's attendance on the same date of 4654. The mutuel handle was $238,053.

Last year's first day was an eight-race affair; therefore the two totals are not comparable. However, through eight races Tuesday, this year's handle was up $22,410.

Orduna Heads State's Prep Hurdle Hopefuls

. . . TECH'S GREEN TOPS SPRINTERS

(Third in a Series)
By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Omaha Central's Joe Orduna, perhaps the finest hurdler ever produced in the Cornhusker state, heads the list of promising candidates in the hurdle and sprint events in Nebraska high school ranks this season.

Orduna established himself as the swiftest high hurdler in the state's history as a junior, but had to settle for second place in both the highs and lows in the state meet.

Orduna, who has a best of :14.1 and owns the state record of :14.2, was nipped by Scottsbluff's John Simmons in the state finals in the highs. The Central speedster was also runner-up in the lows, being edged by Grand Island's Stan Thorpe.

This year he should have clear sailing, with the primary competition coming from teammate Jim Hunter, who put himself on the all-time best performance chart last year with a :14.6 effort.

Most of last year's top hurdlers graduated, with none of the state champions returning. But the hurdles have traditionally been events dominated by seniors and there are some highly promising candidates returning.

Green gave evidence that he's ready to return to prominence in the sprint ranks this year when he blazed to a :06.2 mark in the 60-yard dash in the Greater Omaha Indoor meet.

Capital City Prep Track Is Balanced

. . . INDIVIDUAL STANDOUTS LACKING IN LINCOLN

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln High, last year's city public schools and district champion and fifth-place finisher in the Class A state meet, may be hard pressed to hold off the bid of Northeast for Capital City honors this spring.

State champions Kent Radke (880) and John Spaedt (shot put) were among the Links claimed by graduation and coach Harold Scott was left with more holes to fill this spring when several lettermen elected to pass up the sport in their senior seasons.

The other vets are half-milers Brad Fortney and Ron Herman.

Scott is hopeful that some of the inexperienced hands will develop as the season progresses. Among those who have promise are high jumper Charles King, sopomore sprinter Mel Tarpley and half-miler Mike Casmer.

Doug Campbell, Tom Reinlck and Larry Lockhart are sprint leaders with Chuck Thompson joining Rosenstock in the high jump. The two juniors each qualified for the state meet as sophomores.

If Reinick, who had a knee operation after the football season, returns to his 1965 form the Rockets could have a strong mile relay quartet. He, Catlett and Ross were members of a quartet which went 3:29.5 last year.

Southeast coach Roy Churchill has 12 lettermen, but warns that most earned their monograms with third and fourth place finishes rather than firsts and seconds.

Orduna Heads State's Prep Hurdle Hopefuls

. . . TECH'S GREEN TOPS SPRINTERS

(Third in a Series)
By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Omaha Central's Joe Orduna, perhaps the finest hurdler ever produced in the Cornhusker state, heads the list of promising candidates in the hurdle and sprint events in Nebraska high school ranks this season.

Orduna established himself as the swiftest high hurdler in the state's history as a junior, but had to settle for second place in both the highs and lows in the state meet.

Orduna, who has a best of :14.1 and owns the state record of :14.2, was nipped by Scottsbluff's John Simmons in the state finals in the highs. The Central speedster was also runner-up in the lows, being edged by Grand Island's Stan Thorpe.

This year he should have clear sailing, with the primary competition coming from teammate Jim Hunter, who put himself on the all-time best performance chart last year with a :14.6 effort.

Most of last year's top hurdlers graduated, with none of the state champions returning. But the hurdles have traditionally been events dominated by seniors and there are some highly promising candidates returning.

In terms of overall strength and balance the sprint corps is more promising than the hurdle contingent.

Heir apparent to the dash honors is Omaha Tech's Dave Green, who had a so-so junior season after claiming the Class A 100-yard dash title as a sophomore.

Green gave evidence that he's ready to return to prominence in the sprint ranks this year when he blazed to a :06.2 mark in the 60-yard dash in the Greater Omaha Indoor meet.

Green had a :09.8 mark in the 100 and a :22.2 best in the 220 last year after :09.8 and :21.9 peaks as a sophomore.

Capital City Prep Track Is Balanced

. . . INDIVIDUAL STANDOUTS LACKING IN LINCOLN

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Lincoln High, last year's city public schools and district champion and fifth-place finisher in the Class A state meet, may be hard pressed to hold off the bid of Northeast for Capital City honors this spring.

State champions Kent Radke (880) and John Spaedt (shot put) were among the Links claimed by graduation and coach Harold Scott was left with more holes to fill this spring when several lettermen elected to pass up the sport in their senior seasons.

"We'll have our strength in the field," Scott indicates.

Heading the list of five letterman is weight man John Walters, who hit 50 feet in the shot put and 156 feet in the discus as a junior.

The other vets are half-milers Brad Fortney and Ron Herman.

Scott is hopeful that some of the inexperienced hands will develop as the season progresses. Among those who have promise are high jumper Charles King, sopomore sprinter Mel Tarpley and half-miler Mike Casmer.

Ross peaked at :15.4 and :20.7 as a junior while Rosenstock had :15.7 and :22.0 marks as a sophomore. Hester anticipates improvement from both.

Doug Campbell, Tom Reinick and Larry Lockhart are sprint leaders with Chuck Thompson joining Rosenstock in the high jump. The two juniors each qualified for the state meet as sophomores.

If Reinick, who had a knee operation after the football season, returns to his 1965 form the Rockets could have a strong mile relay quartet. He, Catlett and Ross were members of a quartet which went 3:29.5 last year.

Southeast coach Roy Churchill has 12 lettermen, but warns that most earned their monograms with third and fourth place finishes rather than firsts and seconds.

Among those who could help the cause for the Knights are miler Gale Breed, a transfer from the golf team, and quarter-miler Bill Loersh, a transfer from York.

Council Reviews Third Unit Of Assessments

The City Council, sitting as a board of equalization, Tuesday started hearings on the third group of improvement districts constructed during 1963

Taken under review were several objections to assessment figures prepared by the city engineering department on 28 districts totaling $387,890.

Hearings on the third group will be concluded on Monday at 9:30 a.m. Assessments on the final set of improvement districts will be heard May 3.

Much of the objections Tuesday centered around paving district No. 1960, which provided for the construction of 44-foot pavement on 11th St., from Cornhusker Highway north to Furnas Ave.

The rate of $19.06 per front foot for the district was objected to by some property owners who said their property was zoned residential but is being assessed as commercial.

Other complaints heard included a water main in Cornhusker from Sylvia to Milton Streets and a sanitary sewer district for all streets in Midway addition.

The council did not reach a decision on the contested assessments Tuesday.

Mrs. Bertha Hill Named To Help Robert Denney

Fairbury (UPI)—Mrs. Bertha Hill of Lincoln, a former state treasurer, has been named treasurer of the "Denney Will Win Committee," an organization promoting the election of Fairbury attorney Robert V. Denney to Congress.

Mrs. Hill said: "As a former resident of Fairbury's neighboring town to the west, Hebron, I am most happy to help in Mr. Denney's campaign.

"Bob Denney's neighbors, the folks who know him best, are going to see that he wins this election."

Mrs. Hill is the widow of the late state treasurer, Ralph W. Hill, and served the remainder of her husband's term after his death in 1958.

Chiefs Won't Give Omaha More Time

Omaha (AP)—Federal officials declined Tuesday to extend the Dec. 15 deadline they have set for Omaha to end its packinghouse waste pollution of the Missouri River.

That decision was announced by Murray Stein, chief enforcement officer for the Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, after a day-long meeting with Omaha officials and officials from other states.

Stein said that if the deadline was not met, the next step would be up to John W. Gardner secretary of Health Education and Welfare or Interior Secretary Stuart Udall.

Omaha had presented to the meetings its city-industry plan for a pre-treatment system to be functioning by July or August of 1967.

On May 10 Omaha will vote on a $2,400,000 bond issue, with half that money to go for the pre-treatment system. Stein said he regarded the vote as "very critical" in that it will indicate the attitude of Omahans toward pollution abatement.

Omaha's problem is mainly handling packinghouse grease and paunch manure and, because of large quantities of each the south half of the new sewage treatment plant is not in operation.

The 1966 Bonds will bear interest at the rate or rates specified in the proposal of the successful bidder in accordance with this Notice of Sale. Interest will be payable semi-annually on January 1 and July 1 in each year.

Such Bonds will be subject to redemption, upon published notice as provided in the Resolutions, at any time on or after January 1, 1971, in whole, or in part in inverse order of maturities to the extent and in the manner provided in the Resolutions (and in the event that less than all of the 1966 Bonds of an entire maturity are redeemed, the 1966 Bonds of such maturity to be redeemed shall be selected by lot), at the respective redemption prices (expressed as percentages of the principal amount of the Bonds to be redeemed) set forth below, in each case together with accrued interest to the redemption date:

Thereafter	100

For further information as to the 1966 Bonds, including the District's covenants with respect thereto, reference is hereby made to the Resolutions and to the form of proposed Official Statement mentioned in the closing paragraph of this Notice of Sale.

Each proposal must be on the Official Form of Proposal and must be a bid of not less than $13,426,000 plus interest on the 1966 Bonds accrued to the date of delivery, and must specify in a multiple of ⅛ of 1% the rate per annum of interest (not exceeding 5%) which the 1966 Bonds of each maturity are to bear. Only one interest rate may be specified for the 1966 Bonds of the same maturity, and only one coupon will be attached to each bond for each semi-annual interest payment. The maximum average rate of interest is 5% per annum. Each proposal must be enclosed in a sealed envelope and should be addressed to the Board of Directors, Consumers Public Power District, Columbus, Nebraska, and marked on the outside, in substance, "Proposal for Bonds". As a condition precedent to the consideration of his proposal, each bidder must enclose with it, as a good faith deposit, a certified or cashier's check drawn upon a bank or trust company in the City of New York or the State of Nebraska, payable to the order of "Consumers Public Power District", for $274,000. No interest will be allowed on any good faith deposit.

The right is reserved to reject all proposals or any proposal not conforming to this Notice of Sale or not on the Official Form of Proposal (without alteration except for the insertions required by the form). The right is also reserved to waive, if permitted by law, any irregularity or informality in any proposal.

As between acceptable proposals complying with this Notice of Sale, the 1966 Bonds will be sold to the highest responsible bidder whose proposal offers to purchase all the 1966 Bonds at such rate or rates of interest as will produce the lowest interest cost to the District over the life of such Bonds, after deducting the amount of premium bid above $13,700,000 or adding the amount of discount bid below $13,700,000. It is requested that each proposal be accompanied by a statement of the interest cost (after deducting the premium offered or adding the discount, if any) computed at the interest rate or rates specified in the proposal in accordance with the said method of computation, and of the percentage of net interest cost, but such statement is not to be considered as a part of the proposal. No bid which results in a percentage of net interest cost in excess of 5% will be considered.

Proposals will be accepted or rejected by the Board of Directors of the District (at a meeting called for that purpose at the office of the District in Columbus, Nebraska) not later than 2:00 o'clock P.M., central standard time, (3:00 o'clock P.M., eastern standard time), on the date for receiving proposals. When the successful bidder has been ascertained, the Board of Directors of the District will adopt a resolution awarding the purchase of the 1966 Bonds, and the President or other authorized officer of the District will promptly accept in writing the proposal of such bidder and will return all good-faith deposits made to the persons making the same except the deposit made by the successful bidder. The deposit of the successful bidder will be applied as part payment for the 1966 Bonds or, if he fails to comply with the terms of his proposal, will be retained as liquidated damages and in full stalsfaction of any claims of the District against the successful bidder relating to the 1966 Bonds, or if the District fails to fulfill the conditions stated in the proposal, the deposit will be returned.

As soon as possible after the successful bidder is ascertained, the form of the Official Statement of the District will be dated the date of sale of the 1966 Bonds, the interest rate or rates will be inserted therein, and the table therein under "Debt Service Requirements" will be revised as to the 1966 Bonds to reflect the actual interest rate or rates, and the successful bidder will be furnished with copies, in reasonable quantity as required in connection with the sale by him of the 1966 Bonds, of such Official Statement (including a copy of Resolution No. 1437 attached thereto), including one copy thereof signed manually by the President or other authorized officer of the District.

The 1966 Bonds will be delivered in definitive form as coupon Bonds in the denomination of $5,000 with a single coupon attached for each installment of interest thereon, and be registerable as to principal only, or as to both principal and interest. Such delivery will be made in the City of New York or the City of Chicago, on or about May 4, 1966, at 10:00 o'clock A.M. (eastern daylight saving time), or such other place, time and date as shall be acceptable to the District and the successful bidder, at which time the successful bidder shall pay the balance of the purchase price by one or more certified or cashier's checks or bank drafts drawn upon banks or trust companies in the City of New York or the City of Chicago, payable to the order of "Consumers Public Power District".

It shall be a condition of the obligation of the successful bidder to accept delivery of and pay for the 1966 Bonds that contemporaneously with or before accepting such Bonds and paying therefor he shall recieve copies, in reasonable quantity as required in connection with deliveries by the successful bidder of the 1966 Bonds, of the opinion of Hawkins, Delafield & Wood, Bond Council to the District, in the form referred to in the closing paragraph of this Notice of Sale and attached to the Official Form of Proposal, including one copy thereof signed manually.

Upon the delivery of the 1966 Bonds, or as soon as practicable thereafter, the successful bidder will be furnished with a record of proceedings taken in connection with the issuance of such Bonds.

Copies of the form of proposed Official Statement of the District relating to the 1966 Bonds, including Resolution No. 1437, of this Notice of Sale, of the Official Form of Proposal and of the form of the opinion of Hawkins, Delafield & Wood, Bond Council to the District, will be furnished upon application to the District, Columbus, Nebraska, or Smith, Barney & Co. Incorporated, Financial Consultant, 20 Broad Street, New York, N.Y.

Tail Check Asked

London (UPI)—The Boeing Aircraft Corp. has asked the British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC) to check the tail fitting on each of its 19 Boeing 707 jet liners, the airline announced.

Beaver Creek Project Ratio Favorable

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said Tuesday he had been informed the cost-benefit ratio on the Beaver Creek Flood Control and Irrigation project is favorable and has urged the Bureau of Reclamation to transmit the engineering feasibility report to Congress.

Beaver Creek, said Curtis, is "the one remaining tributary of the Republican River that has had no corrective work on it."

"The need in this valley for flood protection is very great and has existed for many years," he said.

In the past, Curtis explained, the cost-benefit ratio made the project appear marginal but "the need has become greater now."

Besides providing flood control and some additional irrigation, he said, "it would be my hope the project could be designed in a way to improve the water level at the Harlan County Reservoir to benefit fishing and recreation."

Ted Sorensen Saturday Review Editor-At-Large

New York (AP)—Theodore C. Sorensen, author, lawyer and special counsel to President John F. Kennedy, has taken the title of editor-at-large with the Saturday Review.

While continuing his practice of law, Sorensen will "contribute occasional signed editorials and articles to the magazine," said Norman Cousins, the editor.

Writes Sorensen: "Our indulgence of dissent and debate, far from deserving the label of unpatriotic, is in fact the quality that distinguishes us most from our adversaries in Viet Nam."

The plaintiffs allege negligence on the part of the defendant, Theodore W. Schlange, when the car he was driving collided with one in which the plaintiff was a passenger at 33rd and Cornhusker.

Gust Of Selling Upsets Stocks

New York (AP)—A gust of selling upset many of the high-flying issues on the New York and American Stock Exchanges Tuesday and the markets showed losses in active trading.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was 8.3 million shares compared with 8.64 million Monday.

President Johnson's indication that he may ask Congress to increase taxes by $5 billion "more or less," perhaps as early as next month, if prices continue to rise, came just as the stock markets were closing in New York.

Mainly effected in the stock market were the color televisions, other electronics, airlines, aerospace stocks and specially-situated issues which have moved so widely in 1966.

Eleven of the 25 most active issues fell and four rose. Sperry Rand, which rose ⅛ to 20½ on 229,000 shares.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

Rukeyser

The Wall Street nerter Street nerter five years of expanding business sales and corporate profits represents a crisis of confidence in the ability of politicians at Washington to manipulate the national economy indefinitely.

Skeptics take the view that the wrong personalities have been taking the bows for advancing prosperity. In addition to political management and the expanding effect of stepped up war activities in South Viet Nam, non-governmental factors have been operating, including the immense increase in the use of installment sales financing, business innovations and the acceleration of the pace of technological change.

The critics of "the mixed economy" lean to the opinion that federal officeholders and their new style economic advisers have been overrating their capacity to control the flow of events and have been in effect suffering from a chantecler complex. It will be recalled that in the Rostand play, the cock would crow each morning and then the sun would rise. Chantecler confused the proximity in time of the two developments, and assumed that his crowing had caused the sun to rise.

In the same spirit, partisans have been taking credit for the economic achievements of upwards of 70,000,000 workers in private enterprises.

Heightened Uneasiness

The uneasiness was heightened when events failed to unfold in accordance with the script prepared by the President's economic advisers as disclosed in the President's budget message and Economic Report.

The reluctance of the Great Society administration to take restrictive steps in an election year reveals a weakness in the Keynesian economic philosophy. The late Lord John Maynard Keynes is father of the new economics. He counselled that, instead of balancing a governmental budget annually, it would be prudent to balance it over an entire business cycle. This approach, he indicated, would give flexibility for stimulating the national economy in time of recession through planned budgetary deficits.

On the other hand, he advised that, in periods of expanding boom, budgetary policy be reversed and government should then plan budgetary surpluses, which should be used to pay off debt and thus dampen inflationary pressures.

The doctrine in practice was that, while politicians welcome the expansionary phase which promote popularity of incumbent office-holders, they shrink from the reverse deflationary procedure. Accordingly, through the decades unbalanced budgets became chronic.

Out-Keynesed

And this year at a time when the national economy had been artificially stimulated by tax cuts and budgetary deficits, no net overall economies in domestic federal spending were recommended to make room for the escalation of military activity in South Korea. This political decision-making, on top of inflationary signs in security and commodity pdices, created growing apprehension lest the boom deteriorate into a radical inflation.

Even now when even such new style economists as Dr. Walter E. Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, recommend positive counter-inflationary moves such as suspending the stimulating depreciation allowances which have greatly expanded corporate expenditures for new tools and facilities, the administration has been pussyfooting. While many advise a reversal of the phase of federal tax cutting with increased rates, the administration, except for a few changes in selected excise rates, has temporized with devices for speeding up individual and corporate tax collections at existing rates.

But apart from such fears and concern about the outlook in South Viet Nam, the revaluation of security prices has been counter to statistical evidence that the boom is still expanding. The volume of business in the first quarter, if continued through the year, will bring the gross national product since the boom started five years ago amounts to some $200 billion, which is about equal to the combined annual gross national product of two of the principal nations in Western Europe — France and West Germany.

Apart from the short term outlook, major policymaking is at stake. The Kennedy-Johnson Administration advanced the involvement of government in business decision-making, including the determination of steel and other commodity prices.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Gust Of Selling Upsets Stocks

New York (AP)—A gust of selling upset many of the high-flying issues on the New York and American Stock Exchanges Tuesday and the markets showed losses in active trading.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange was 8.3 million shares compared with 8.64 million Monday.

Of 1,404 issues traded, 755 fell and 402 rose. New highs for the year totaled 46 and new lows 89.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 1.2 to 343.6 with industrials off 1.6, rails off .9 and utilities off .4.

President Johnson's indication that he may ask Congress to increase taxes by $5 billion "more or less," perhaps as early as next month, if prices continue to rise, came just as the stock markets were closing in New York.

Mainly effected in the stock market were the color televisions, other electronics, airlines, aerospace stocks and specially-situated issues which have moved so widely in 1966.

Standard & Poor's broad 500-stock index sank .35 to 89.27.

Eleven of the 25 most active issues fell and four rose. Sperry Rand, which rose ⅞ to 20⅛ on 229,000 shares.

Trading volume soared again on the American Stock Exchange. A total of 5.86 million shares changed hands.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

Rukeyser

The Wall Streetner-Street nerter five years of expanding business sales and corporate profits represents a crisis of confidence in the ability of politicians at Washington to manipulate the national economy indefinitely.

The whole concept of "a managed economy" is under surveillance.

Skeptics take the view that the wrong personalities have been taking the bows for advancing prosperity. In addition to political management and the expanding effect of stepped up war activities in South Viet Nam, non-governmental factors have been operating, including the immense increase in the use of installment sales financing, business innovations and the acceleration of the pace of technological change.

The critics of "the mixed economy" lean to the opinion that federal officeholders and their new style economic advisers have been overrating their capacity to control the flow of events and have been in effect suffering from a chantecler complex. It will be recalled that in the Rostand play, the cock would crow each morning and then the sun would rise. Chantecler confused the proximity in time of the two developments, and assumed that his crowing had caused the sun to rise.

In the same spirit, partisans have been taking credit for the economic achievements of upwards of 70,000,000 workers in private enterprises.

Heightened Uneasiness

The uneasiness was heightened when events failed to unfold in accordance with the script prepared by the President's economic advisers as disclosed in the President's budget message and Economic Report.

The reluctance of the Great Society administration to take restrictive steps in an election year reveals a weakness in the Keynesian economic philosophy. The late Lord John Maynard Keynes is father of the new economics. He counselled that, instead of balancing a governmental budget annually, it would be prudent to balance it over an entire business cycle. This approach, he indicated, would give flexibility for stimulating the national economy in time of recession through planned budgetary deficits.

On the other hand, he advised that, in periods of expanding boom, budgetary policy be reversed and government should then plan budgetary surpluses, which should be used to pay off debt and thus dampen inflationary pressures.

doctrine in practice was that, while politicians welcome the expansionary phase which promote popularity of incumbent office-holders, they shrink from the reverse deflationary procedure. Accordingly, through the decades unbalanced budgets became chronic.

Out-Keynesed

The economic advisers of the late President Kennedy and of President Johnson out-Keynesed Keynes. They counselled planning a series of continuing federal deficits even during an interlude of booming business.

And this year at a time when the national economy had been artificially stimulated by tax cuts and budgetary deficits, no net overall economies in domestic federal spending were recommended to make room for the escalation of military activity in South Korea. This political decision-making, on top of inflationary signs in security and commodity pdices, created growing apprehension lest the boom deteriorate into a radical inflation.

Even now when even such new style economists as Dr. Walter E. Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, recommend positive counter-inflationary moves such as suspending the stimulating depreciation allowances which have greatly expanded corporate expenditures for new tools and facilities, the administration has been pussyfooting. While many advise a reversal of the phase of federal tax cutting with increased taxes, the administration, except for a few changes in selected excise rates, has temporized with devices for speeding up individual and corporate tax collections at existing rates.

But apart from such fears and concern about the outlook in South Viet Nam, the revaluation of security prices has been counter to statistical evidence that the boom is still expanding. The volume of business in the first quarter, if continued through the year, will bring the gross national product since the boom started five years ago amounts to some $200 billion, which is about equal to the combined annual gross national product of two of the principal nations in Western Europe — France and West Germany.

Apart from the short term outlook, major policymaking is at stake. The Kennedy-Johnson Administration advanced the involvement of government in business decision-making, including the determination of steel and other commodity prices.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Living Material Made

Dr. Sol Spiegelman of the University of Illinois spoke of his work before the American Cancer Society's annual science writers' seminar.

He makes only a 30th of an ounce of the living material at a time to work with.

It takes as little as two minutes to reproduce itself, Dr. Spiegelman said.

If enough raw materials were provided, the living thing would produce—in one day—so much of itself that the only way to understand the number of pounds resulting would be to multiply one quadrillion by itself seven times. One pound of raw materials would cost about $9,600.

The living material is a copy of a virus' genetic heart—ribonucleic acid (RNA). Found in most types of cells, RNA is able to reproduce itself.

The enzyme, which remembers its job from the virus that created it, and the RNA copy take over from there. In two minutes it re-creates itself the first time, and gets faster and faster after that—as it refines the reproduction process.

The resulting viral RNA not only duplicates itself, but produces some changed forms of itself as well—showing that it has the ability to evolve as other living things do.

The material offers a system to study how viruses reproduce and infect living cells. The artificial viral RNA can infect cells just as the naturally occuring virus.

Fremont Mayor Is Criticized For Stand On Dispute

Executive director James Critchfield of the Nebraska Associated General Contractors (AGC) made public Tuesday a letter to Mayor W. L. Renninger of Fremont, disputing the mayor's contention that the City of Fremont is not involved in a current controversy over construction wages at the Fremont sewage treatment plant.

Referring to a U.S. Labor Department order that the $4.22 hourly rate for plumbers be paid for some work normally done by $1.55 per hour laborers, Critchfield said he questioned whether the mayor knows "all of the facts."

Critchfield said the increase "will almost certainly result in successful litigation by the contractor against the City of Fremont unless corrected."

He said the increase in wage rate was ordered "solely at the request of the AFL-CIO."

Langen Claims Federal Export Control 'Shabby'

Washington (AP)— Rep. Odin Langen, R-Minn., said Tuesday the administration's "shabby treatment" of the cattle hide industry, performed, he said, in the name of forestalling a rise in shoe prices, has now been stripped of its credibility.

Referring to a report that the nation's shoe manufacturers are raising prices an average of five per cent on fall shoes, Langen said:

"I was particularly interested in the statement by an official of one big shoe company who said that the hide market can go down to even lower levels and the price of shoes would still go up."

It is now obvious, Langen said, That the shoe industry planned to raise prices anyway. He said this casts a shadow over Commerce Department action on March 11 establishing controls over exports of hides.

'Return Of Two Party Democracy Is Up To Voters'

Fremont (UPI)—Robert V. Denney, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the First District, said voters in November "will have to decide if we are to have a two-party democracy."

"We now have the presidency, both houses of Congress and the statehouse in firm control of one political party," the Fairbury attorney said. "Is democracy's end really served when a congress answers 'yes' without amending his wishes?"

Denney said the President's highway beautification act was "a perfect example of what happens under one-man rule." He said the bill was rammed through Congress with only a minimum of debate.

Magnuson Warns Committee Some Transport In Decline

Washington (AP) — Senate hearings on President Johnson's plan to bring all modes of U.S. transportation under a single new Cabinet department began Tuesday with a warning that some forms of transport are "in shocking decline."

That came from Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., sponsor of the bill, who spoke of a 50% decline since 1950 in railroad passenger miles and declared "our merchant marine is in dire need of improvement if it is to survive."

Magnuson was the first witness before the Senate Government Operations Committee on what he described as "a very major, complex piece of legislation."

He agreed with Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who opened the hearing with the comment that "no one need expect us to report out this bill in half a dozen days" and Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., who said, "It looks as if it will take weeks and weeks of study."

The new department, which Johnson proposed in a special message to Congress March 2, would weld together various independent agencies which now employ almost 100,000 persons with annual budgets that total $6 billion. His main focus was on the need for one agency to promote travel safety.

SICK LADY BIRD PUTS OFF TRIP

The First Lady's illness, described as viral laryngitis, caused her to put off her trip for two days and to cut out scheduled public appearances in Washington, Austin, and Johnson City, Tex.

However, her doctors say that with rest and medication, Mrs. Johnson will be able to leave Washington Friday to participate in the dedication of a San Antonio River lighting project Friday night and to spend the weekend in rugged Big Bend National Park in southwestern Texas.

Guns Seized At Suspected Killers' Homes

Hattiesburg, Miss. (AP)—Federal agents seized a cache of guns and ammunition when they arrested a dozen Mississippi men in connection with the slaying of a Negro leader, the FBI said Tuesday.

Special Agent Roy K. Moore of the FBI said several rifles and ammunition were confiscated Monday at the homes of three men, identified as Mississippi Ku Klux Klan leaders.

Most of the weapons, Moore said, were taken at the home of Sam Bowers, a Laurel vending machine operator who is the object of a widespread search.

Bowers is tagged by the FBI as the imperial wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in Mississippi. He eluded agents who tailed him Sunday night just hours before the Mississippi men were rounded up in connection with the death of Vernon Dahmer, 58, a Hattiesburg civil rights leader.

British Bowater Paper Firm Ups Newsprint Price

London (UPI) — The Bowater Paper Corp. Tuesday increased the price of a ton of newsprint by $5.60 to $164.50, effective July 1.

The move was expected and indications were that it would be blamed on higher costs.

Bowater is easily the country's largest domestic producer of newsprint although nearly 50% of the total supplies used here are imported. The main overseas suppliers are Canada and Scandinavia.

Bowater is also a large newsprint manufacturer in the United States.

A Bowater spokesan said the increase was the same as that ordered earlier in North America. The North American increase was $5 per short ton, roughly the equivalent of $5.60 a long ton in Britain.

Worcester, England (AP)—Sir Archer Baldwin, who was born in a log cabin near Rugby, Tenn., and became a member of Parliament, died at his home at Tenbury Wells. He was 82.

The son was one of Britain's leading livestock breeders. While in the House of Commons, he served as the Conservative Party spokesman on agricultural issues.

President's Niece Quietly Marries

Austin, Tex. (UPI)—While President and Mrs. Johnson were preparing a big church wedding for their daughter Luci, the President's niece has quietly eloped with a University of Texas zoology student.

Rebekah Alexander, whom Johnson regards almost as closely as his own daughters, flew to Las Vegas earlier this month for a quickie wedding with David George Shulman, a University of Texas student from Kilgore, Tex.

Queen Elisabit Tayler Rules Britain, Say Toledo Pupils

After the Blade's European correspondent, Fernand Fauber, reported the observations of 24 Birmingham, England, 13-year-olds of their impressions of the United States, pupils at a dozen Toledo area schools replied with essays on their impressions of Great Britain.

"Great Britain," observed one youngster, "is the country I would like to visit because you don't have to learn any crumby foreign language."

"I always think of England as bunch of teen-agers who have long hair and always are smoking and walking through dark allies," one wrote, while another commented, "It's hard to tell the boys from the girls there."

Several commented on British royalty. "They have kings, queens and chimney sweeps," one observer reported. "I like presidents better than kings and queens but that's the only thing wrong with England," said another.

"The government in England is the president and the senetor too her name is Queen Elizebeth," wrote another, while one paper suffered from confusion and spelling: "Queen Elebihl rules the country just the same as President Johnson."

One pupil concluded that the English were economically backward, reporting, "Probably half the people still ride bicycles."

Living Material Made

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP)— Living material was synthesized for the first time last summer, a scientist reported Tuesday.

Dr. Sol Spiegelman of the University of Illinois spoke of his work before the American Cancer Society's annual science writers' seminar.

He makes only a 30th of an ounce of the living material at a time to work with.

It takes as little as two minutes to reproduce itself, Dr. Spiegelman said.

If enough raw materials were provided, the living thing would produce—in one day—so much of itself that the only way to understand the number of pounds resulting would be to multiply one quadrillion by itself seven times. One pound of raw materials would cost about $9,600.

The living material is a copy of a virus' genetic heart —ribonucleic acid (RNA). Found in most types of cells, RNA is able to reproduce itself.

The enzyme, which remembers its job from the virus that created it, and the RNA copy take over from there. In two minutes it re-creates itself the first time, and gets faster and faster after that—as it refines the reproduction process.

The resulting viral RNA not only duplicates itself, but produces some changed forms of itself as well—showing that it has the ability to evolve as other living things do.

The material offers a system to study how viruses reproduce and infect living cells. The artificial viral RNA can infect cells just as the naturally occuring virus.

Fremont Mayor Is Criticized For Stand On Dispute

Executive director James Critchfield of the Nebraska Associated General Contractors (AGC) made public Tuesday a letter to Mayor W. L. Renninger of Fremont, disputing the mayor's contention that the City of Fremont is not involved in a current controversy over construction wages at the Fremont sewage treatment plant.

Referring to a U.S. Labor Department order that the $4.22 hourly rate for plumbers be paid for some work normally done by $1.55 per hour laborers, Critchfield said he questioned whether the mayor knows "all of the facts."

Critchfield quoted state sanitation director T. A. Filipi as saying the minimum wage increase was ordered after the contract was let.

Critchfield said the increase "will almost certainly result in successful litigation by the contractor against the City of Fremont unless corrected."

He said the increase in wage rate was ordered "solely at the request of the AFL-CIO."

Langen Claims Federal Export Control 'Shabby'

Washington (AP) — Rep. Odin Langen, R-Minn., said Tuesday the administration's "shabby treatment" of the cattle hide industry, performed, he said, in the name of forestalling a rise in shoe prices, has now been stripped of its credibility.

Referring to a report that the nation's shoe manufacturers are raising prices an average of five per cent on fall shoes, Langen said:

"I was particularly interested in the statement by an official of one big shoe company who said that the hide market can go down to even lower levels and the price of shoes would still go up."

It is now obvious, Langen said. That the shoe industry planned to raise prices anyway. He said this casts a shadow over Commerce Department action on March 11 establishing controls over exports of hides.

'Return Of Two Party Democracy Is Up To Voters'

Fremont (UPI)—Robert V. Denney, candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the First District, said voters in November "will have to decide if we are to have a two-party democracy."

"We now have the presidency, both houses of Congress and the statehouse in firm control of one political party," the Fairbury attorney said. "Is democracy's end really served when a congress answers 'yes' without amending his wishes?"

Denney said the President's highway beautification act was "a perfect example of what happens under one-man rule." He said the bill was rammed through Congress with only a minimum of debate.

George spends all his time at the firm and honks whenever anybody comes to the door. Stivers said his watchgoose has scared away at least one burglar.

Magnuson Warns Committee Some Transport In Decline

Washington (AP) — Senate hearings on President Johnson's plan to bring all modes of U.S. transportation under a single new Cabinet department began Tuesday with a warning that some forms of transport are "in shocking decline."

That came from Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., sponsor of the bill, who spoke of a 50% decline since 1950 in railroad passenger miles and declared "our merchant marine is in dire need of improvement if it is to survive."

Magnuson was the first witness before the Senate Government Operations Committee on what he described as "a very major, complex piece of legislation."

He agreed with Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who opened the hearing with the comment that "no one need expect us to report out this bill in half a dozen days" and Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., who said, "It looks as if it will take weeks and weeks of study."

The new department, which Johnson proposed in a special message to Congress March 2, would weld together various independent agencies which now employ almost 100,000 persons with annual budgets that total $6 billion. His main focus was on the need for one agency to promote travel safety.

SICK LADY BIRD PUTS OFF TRIP

The First Lady's illness, described as viral laryngitis, caused her to put off her trip for two days and to cut out scheduled public appearances in Washington, Austin, and Johnson City, Tex.

However, her doctors say that with rest and medication, Mrs. Johnson will be able to leave Washington Friday to participate in the dedication of a San Antonio River lighting project Friday night and to spend the weekend in rugged Big Bend National Park in southwestern Texas.

Guns Seized At Suspected Killers' Homes

Hattiesburg, Miss. (AP)—Federal agents seized a cache of guns and ammunition when they arrested a dozen Mississippi men in connection with the slaying of a Negro leader, the FBI said Tuesday.

Special Agent Roy K. Moore of the FBI said several rifles and ammunition were confiscated Monday at the homes of three men, identified as Mississippi Ku Klux Klan leaders.

Most of the weapons, Moore said, were taken at the home of Sam Bowers, a Laurel vending machine operator who is the object of a widespread search.

Bowers is tagged by the FBI as the imperial wizard of the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in Mississippi. He eluded agents who tailed him Sunday night just hours before the Mississippi men were rounded up in connection with the death of Vernon Dahmer, 58, a Hattiesburg civil rights leader.

British Bowater Paper Firm Ups Newsprint Price

London (UPI) — The Bowater Paper Corp. Tuesday increased the price of a ton of newsprint by $5.60 to $164.50, effective July 1.

The move was expected and indications were that it would be blamed on higher costs.

Bowater is easily the country's largest domestic producer of newsprint although nearly 50% of the total supplies used here are imported. The main overseas suppliers are Canada and Scandinavia.

Bowater is also a large-newsprint manufacturer in the United States.

A Bowater spokesan said the increase was the same as that ordered earlier in North America. The North American increase was $5 per short ton, roughly the equivalent of $5.60 a long ton in Britain.

U.S. Native, Old Tory Spokesman Baldwin Is Dead

Worcester, England (AP)—Sir Archer Baldwin, who was born in a log cabin near Rugby, Tenn., and became a member of Parliament, died at his home at Tenbury Wells. He was 82.

Baldwin's father was engaged in the timber trade in the United States when he was born.

President's Niece Quietly Marries

Austin, Tex. (UPI)—While President and Mrs. Johnson were preparing a big church wedding for their daughter Luci, the President's niece has quietly eloped with a University of Texas zoology student.

Rebekah Alexander, whom Johnson regards almost as closely as his own daughters, flew to Las Vegas earlier this month for a quickie wedding with David George Shulman, a University of Texas student from Kilgore, Tex.

Queen Elisabit Tayler Rules Britain, Say Toledo Pupils

At least, those are some of the impressions of some Toledo area youngsters, recorded by the Toledo Blade.

After the Blade's European correspondent, Fernand Fauber, reported the observations of 24 Birmingham, England, 13-year-olds of their impressions of the United States, pupils at a dozen Toledo area schools replied with essays on their impressions of Great Britain.

"Great Britain," observed one youngster, "is the country I would like to visit because you don't have to learn any crumby foreign language."

Another wrote that people in England "have a heavy English brawl."

"I always think of England as bunch of teen-agers who have long hair and always are smoking and walking through dark allies," one wrote, while another commented, "It's hard to tell the boys from the girls there."

Several commented on British royalty. "They have kings, queens and chimney sweeps," one observer reported. "I like presidents better than kings and queens but that's the only thing wrong with England," said another.

"The government in England is the president and the seneter too her name is Queen Elizebeth," wrote another, while one paper suffered from confusion and spelling: "Queen Elebihl rules the country just the same as President Johnson."

Viet Nam Visitors 'Misled'

Washington (AP)—Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., said Tuesday congressmen returning from South Viet Nam report they were "badly misled" by U.S. officials who showed them around.

Ottinger said the reports strengthening his belief that top government officials are misinforming the public on vital issues besides the Viet Nam war.

The congressman accused Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Secretary of State Dean Rusk of "insufficient candor" in letters to them earlier this year and has followed up with more criticism in a series of recent speeches.

In an interview, he said information given to him by congressmen who visited South Viet Nam indicates they are shown and told only things that make the United States look good.

"It was a transparent attempt to create an impression of support by the South Vietnamese for our actions there," Ottinger said.

Others, he added, were told defections to the south by North Vietnamese soldiers had doubled, and that tax collections by the government had increased 50%.

China Rejects U.S. Overture

Tokyo (UPI) — Communist China Tuesday rejected American overtures for improved relations by declaring that "anything coming from Washington is nonsensical when the spear of U.S. imperialism is directed against us."

The official Peking Peoples Daily said any talk of improved Sino-American relations are just "pretentions" to hide evidence that the United States "is the sworn enemy of the Chinese people."

The article, believed written by a high ranking Communist Chinese official, appeared directed at recent statements by Secretary of State Dean Rusk who said better Sino-American relations could follow if "Peking is prepared to live in peace."

China-Pakistan Bond 'Need Not Worry America'

Lahore, Pakistan (UPI) — Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto said Tuesday night the United States need not fear Pakistan's growing bond wtih Communist China.

New Dental Discovery Ends Need for Pastes and Powders

New York, N. Y. (Special)—After years of research, scientists have discovered an entirely new substance to make false teeth fit beautifully. Denture wearers report such success with this new substance in refitting loose dentures that they no longer need paste and powder adhesives.

This new dental discovery is a soft, pliable plastic that is applied directly to dentures from the tube. User then inserts dentures into mouth and bites down. Instantly, this new substance molds to the exact contours of mouth and gums, holding dentures firmly in place through soothing suction—so powerful that even those with difficult lowers can laugh, talk and eat anything with complete confidence. Looseness, slipping, and clicking disappear. Sore spots are quickly relieved. One application lasts weeks, stays soft and pliable in use. Nightly cleansing does not wash it away, yet it is easily removed when desired. It will not harm plates. This substance makes it possible to refit and reline worn dentures at home, saving over $100 on costly relining work.
